EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

SARAH BERNHARDT has agreed to visit America again for $400 a performance.

COMMISSIONER BLACK makes himself ridiculous in his efforts to oust Miss Sweet from office.

ADAM, the first man, is believed to have been red-headed, merely because his name means red.

SULLIVAN received $5,684 for his fight in Cincinnati. McCaffrey received several hard knocks.

PARSON TALMAGE declines the nomination for Governor of New York State on the Prohibition ticket.

SPAIN has lost the Caroline Islands, and although she is mad about it she will not be able to recover the islands from old Bismarck.

WOMAN makes a deal of trouble in the world. There's Germany and Spain threatening to quarrel all about Caroline—the islands of that name, we mean.

A NEW JERSEY woman was fired at the other day, but the ball struck her corset stay and glanced off. This shows that the corset is of some use; course it does.

SAMUEL MORLEY, the newly-appointed postmaster at Bridgeport, Ind., was sentenced to five years imprisonment for grand larceny in 1874. He served a two-years term. That's the sort of material the Democrats put in office.

THE price of oil has risen more rapidly than any other commodity the past week. It is anticipated that the beaux will sit up later than usual next Winter.

A COUNTRY that increases its population every decade some 12,000,000, is destined to become the great central power among the nations of the world. The United States in a century will be recognized the greatest in wealth, natural resources and numerical strength of any power on the globe.

THE senate will be called upon to consider the causes which led to the removal of no less than 487 Republicans to make way for Democrats, in the post office department of the government. This work alone will occupy much time, and so present the civil service rules as to make them understood by the public at large.

THE Democratic party in Montour county is in an unhappy condition. Three of the party workers are under bail for perjury and cheating at the recent Democratic primaries, while the editor of the Intelligencer and his son have given bail to answer at the next court for libel. The usual result of having more political bungs than bungholes.

THIRD AUDITOR WILLIAMS, weary of the complaints made about Pension Agent Davis, tried to insinuate that something was wrong with the accounts of ex-Pension Agent Norris. But the latter gentleman met his insinuations with such an avalanche of facts and withering contempt that the presumptuous and officious auditor was glad to shut up.

THERE is said to be a negro in Dalton, Mo., who is 120 years old. He has smoked and chewed tobacco and drank whiskey whenever he could get these articles. Now, we don't want every reader of this paper to think that if he does these things he, too, will live to be 120 years old. Some of these people who do these things are allowed to grow old just to furnish the exception that proves the rule that they are injurious.

Workmen's Vengeance.

Last week the telegraph reports told us of some startling occurrences in Wyoming Territory. It appears that several hundred Chinese have been employed in the mines out there, while white men (native Americans) were compelled to go with out work. It is easy to imagine the old story which is illustrated in real life so often. The white men were probably employed at starvation wages--at rates which will not permit them to live. Refusing, perhaps, to work at such wages, the dirty, groveling foreigners, who have never learned how to live and merely exist like so many dogs, are brought in and given work, while the native American must starve. As the white man sees his wife and children hungry, homeless, perishing, feels himself the want of everything which can help to make him comfortable and happy, can we wonder if he is led to deeds of violence? It is merely the natural act of protecting himself and those who look to him for protection.

We know that the pride, and weath, and heartlessness of many employers lead them to do acts of fearful injustice. They can find it in their hearts to grind down the poor man dependent upon them into the ground and virtually take his liberty from him, making him just as truly a slave as were the black men in the South before the war. We hold it to be a crime to employ men at wages so small as to render it impossible for them to live decently. Remember, the poor man has a heart which loves those who deperd upon him just as truly as the rich man does. Remember, his feelings and tastes are naturally as refined as those of the rich man. These things must be considered in the relations which exist between employers and employed.

We desire the prosperity of our country. We believe that it depends upon a more true and universal equality. We believe that a high protective tariff will aid greatly in bringing about those conditions which will enable good wages to be paid, and when they can be paid it is a crime if they are made too low. We are not willing to subscribe to the doctrine that an employer has the right to take labor at the lowest price obtainable. Its tendency is to lower and disgrace labor. If men become entirely too heartless to use some consideration and justice in the regulation of such affairs, we shall certainly advocate the propriety and expediency of the Government stepping in to regulate wages.

Are we Civilized?

Every day lately the Press has given to its readers some fresh instance of crime growing out of uncontrolled passions in the class that, by birth, education and training, are popularly supposed to be able to control their passions. On Tuesday it was a young physician at Red Bank, who, maddened by the sight of smiles given by the woman he loved to another man, first shot her and then himself. On Monday a jealous wife ("a delicately bred woman, of high culture") dashed vitriol in her rival's eyes. The day before that, an engaged lawyer in a Western city stabbed his son, and, still another day further back, a clergyman of high standing in the South was discovered to have plunged into the basest debauchery.

Now what is the meaning of this class of crimes? They mean, for one thing, that the rage, the jealousy, the lust, the love of men and women are just as live and powerful to-day in the most gentle and leisured class of this most Christian country as they were among the cavemen and cavewomen. The educated physician or lawyer who murders a woman because she will not marry him is actuated by precisely the same passion as the beast who forces his rival to death in the field—no higher and no better. We are apt to overlook this fact and to suppose that the human beings who ride in palace cars, who gather pictures and bric-a-brac in every quarter of the earth, who call themselves Ritualists or Presbyterians or Agnostics, are a totally different race at heart from their forefathers, who, dressed in skins, never left their hamlets of huts, and took the thunder to be a god and nature a gigantic cow. But at heart they are just the same. Neither railways nor books, the telephone nor the postal service have altered the orginal type o man.

Some London scribbler with a taste for philosophy speculated the other day as to the time which would be required to convert all civilized men into savages, provided all fears of Mrs. Grundy and all other outward restraints imposed by society were removed. He gave numerous instances of respectable Englishmen who, when set free from family and friends in India or the bush, had returned into the lowest condition of barbarism. His arguments had but a narrow base, perhaps. Yet it is a well known fact in horticulture that if the finest stock of fruit or flower be left to itself without cultivation it will rapidly return to the original wild type. The royal Bellefleur becomes the bitter crab; the most delicate grape is again the savage seedling.

There is quite enough analogy between human and vegetable life in this point to make us pause in our conceit.

The wild growth, the beasts' blood is in the man still; and what is it that holds it in check? Is it not possible that we attach too much importance in this regard to the outward influence of civilization, and too little to the influence of religion, which it is the fashion to treat with affable patronage, pretty much as we do our grandmother's jewelry, or Haydn's music, or any other pleasing sentiment of old times?—Philadelphia Press.

IN Kansas City the proprietors of an immense wholesale and retail liquor trade recently went into bankruptcy. The liabilities were $500,000. They made a statement to their creditors, and this is a part of it: "Perhaps the firm would have survived even these disasters, if others had not struck it at almost the same time. A large, valuable and remunerative trade had been built up at great expense in the neighboring states of Iowa and Kansas. The constitutional amendments prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in those states did not only almost destroy that trade in the latter part of 1881 and the early part of 1882, but merchants, taking advantage of the popular feeling and temper of the courts, became remiss in their remittances for goods previously bought, and collections by process of law became almost impossible." And yet a certain D. D. persists in affirming that prohibition in Kansas—one of the states mentioned above—is a "screaming farce." These liquor men on the contrary, seems to lament it as a pretty serious tragedy.—Home Gazette.

AND still the cholera keeps up its ravages with but little if any real diminution in Spain, the new cases reported September 1st being 3,062, and the deaths 1,057. In the surrounding infected districts, as Marseilles, Toulon, Gibraltar, &c,, there is not reported any important increase or decrease, it standing more as threat than a reality, but unfortunate Spain seems doomed to drink the bitter cup to the dregs. Counting from the beginning of the plague the deaths from cholera in that country must be nearing one hundred thousand now, and the story will live in the memory of posterity as a horror equaling that of the plague of the dark ages, for centuries. Yet wiseacres find in Treasury orders for precautions against its introduction into this country ground for charges of corruption against officials who seek to apply them.

MISS CLEVELAND has consented to allow her picture to appear in the new volume. Woman's vanity shows itself at last.

From the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7. '85

The charge against John Dickerson, late superintendent of repairs in the Pension bureau, for the larceny of a United States flag, was tried in the Police Court last Saturday and dismissed. Thus the great scandal about fraud being discovered in the late administration of the Pension office, like most other fraud rumors of recent date, fritters out, it tells well for the Republican party after having charge of the government Departments for twenty-four years that the conduct of its officials is unassailable. People outside of Washington have no idea of the efforts made during the past three or four months to discover something which would smirch the character of past Republican officials and thus give color to the cry "It's time to have a change; turn the rascals out." Committees were appointed and able detectives, at the expense of the Government, set to work, and the various Departments were raked and scraped from cellar to attic and the conduct of business for years back carefully investigated and everything found as correct as the books and the money in the Treasury Department. Another fact worthy of notice is that those officials who have been turned out have lost their places, not on account of misconduct, but because they were too good Republicans, most of them being old soldiers who risked their lives in the military service of their country and who had an honest and patriotic pride in the conduct and welfare of its civil institutions. It is well for the country and for President Cleveland and his administration that the hungry and thirsty crowd who gather around the hotels and saloons of Washington can't succeed in making a clear sweep, and that the civil service law has so far enabled the President, to some extent, to keep the rascals out.

By the way, won't those who are about to test the constitutionality of the civil service law, find a precedent in President Arthur's veto message of the Fitz John Porter bill? It will be remembered that the point raised then was the unconstitutionality of the act which dictated a nomination to the President. It would be a God-send to the reformers if the same excuse can be urged successfully against the nominations made by the civil service Board.

General S. S. Burdette, Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, is pushing things. He has established National Headquarters at 1106 Fifth St., in this city, with John Cameron as his Adjutant General. A circular letter will soon be issued calling on the Veterans for their subscriptions to the Grand Army monument to General Grant. The organization now musters upwards of 300,000 comrades. General Burdette expects to be with his Western Comrades at Topeka, Kansas, at the great re-union which comes off there on the 29th and 30th instants.

LYNX.

THE Reynoldsville Paper says that it has yet to discover that the editor of the Watchman is a funny man. Please don't say anything so totally discouraging as that to the Watchman editor's ambition to figure among the humorists of the age. Whether the editor is funny or not, what he writes is often quite witty and entertaining; we'll say that of him although he does occasionally poke his fun in our direction. To look at him doesn't cause the average man to explode with laughter, but a quiet smile spreads itself over our countenance when we occasionally dive deep enough to get at the point of his articles.

GERMANY and Spain are now at swords points. We do not know which has the right side of the question at issue, but are inclined to believe that the island on which Germany has planted her flag properly belongs to Spain.

A Democrat's Opinion of the Grand Army.

For some reason, the present Democratic administration has an intense dislike for the Union soldier. It has appointed to office an unusually large number of men who were conspicuous in the rebel army and takes every occasion possible to snub Union soldiers. This sentiment found expression the other day when Secretary Manning was in Albany. The cold facts are related in a dispatch from Albany, given below. We ask all Grand Army men and patriotic citizens to read it:

Local politicians here are excitedly discussing a conversation which, on Democratic authority, is reported to have taken place between Secretary Manning and Postmaster O'Leary. Mr. O'Leary has already made nearly a clean sweep in the post office, retaining only six or seven out of about fifty employees, and filling with Democrats the places made vacant. Among those thus far retained has been C. H. Zeilman, a one-armed ex-soldier and a prominent Grand Army man. During Secretary Manning's visit to the postmaster the Albany Journal states positively that Secretary Manning said:

"I see you still have Zeilman in the office. Why is he not removed?"

"Well, he's a pretty good man, and, besides, he is a Grand Army man, and the order have requested his retention," Mr. O'Leary's reply.

"The Grand Army be damned," Mr. Manning is reported to have remarked, "remove him at once and put Mike' Gorman in his place,"

"Mike," is Mr. Michael Gorman, of the Fifteenth Ward, who has represented the ward in the Common Council, was recently property clerk, and is a heeler of some influence in his ward.

Postmaster O'Leary this afternoon said: "I am not prepared to say that Gorman won't go in there when the change is made, but it has not been definitely decided upon as yet."

To a question whether there was any truth in the report that the change would be made at the request of Mr. Manning. Mr. O'Leary said that was something about which he did not desire to be quoted.

THE Philadelphia Press has received information from many points in the State of Pennsylvania relative to the condition of business at those places. They are almost uniform in reporting an improvement. It is not an improvement, however, that will aid the poor man as much as it does the rich one. It seems it will principally accrue to the benefit of the employer and not the employed. Men are given work, but at rates less than those which prevailed before the hard times began.

REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER and his numerous followers are making no secret of their determination to make an out-and-out low tariff declaration on the part of that body a condition of their continuance within the Democratic fold. Mr. Beecher is said to have declared within the week past that there is really no other issue before the people save that. He and his friends accomplished their mission last fall in defeating Mr. Blaine and thus dealing a severe blow at Protection which Mr. Blaine so well represented.

THE rain fall for the month of August just passed, was greater by 2.44 inches than the average record made for the previous fourteen years at the signal station at New York. The average for the fourteen years has been 4.90 inches, while for the month just passed it was 7.34. While the excess for the month is estimated to have been much greater West of the Alleghenies.

CHAIRMAN COOPER has sent out circulars asking for contributions to the Republican State Campaign fund. He will get more contributions than ever before, because people have had enough Democracy to convince them that their only safety and prosperity is in the Republican party.

WM. OGDEN, a West Philadelphia lad, bought what he supposed was catarrh medicine worth about 25 cents the other day, but instead got a deadly poison called henbane, the quantity being valued at about $4.50. He took some of the henbane and almost died from the effects.

Poetry.

THOUGHTS FROM MRS. BROWNING.

The least flower with a brimming cup may stand
And share its dewdrop with another near,

Deceiving works more shame than torturing doth.

Love, strong as Death, shall conquer Death.

Some people always sigh in thanking God.

Lilies are still lilies, pulled
By smutty hands, though spotted from their white.

The essence of all beauty I call love.

This, perhaps, was love,—
To have its hands too full of gifts to give,
For putting out a hand to take a gift.

Where we disavow
Being keeper to our brother, we're his Cain.

If a flower
Were thrown you out of heaven at intervals
You'd soon attain to a trick of looking up.

Love looks around, below, above,
Yet all his prophecy is—love.

Passion is but something suffered, after all,
While Art
Sets Action on the top of suffering.

Bubbles round a keel
Mean naught, excepting that the vessel moves.

Whoso loves
Believes the impossible.

Good love, howe'er ill placed,
Is better for a man's soul in the end
Than if he loved ill what deserves love well.

O flame of love that's sweeter than all praise
Of those who love not

We make a cushion of our faults
To sit and practice easy virtues on.

The devil's most devilish when respectable,

God made women to save men by love,

At strongest, women are as weak in flesh
As men; at weakest, vilest are in soul.

Earth's foundlings, Heaven's elect.

God knows best, we say but hoarsely.

Truth outlives Pain, as the soul does life.

Earth's crammed with heaven,
And every common bush afire with God.

Walls must get the weather-stain
Before they grow the ivy.

A woman's pity sometimes makes her mad.

For if 'tis sweet for love to pay its debts,
'Tis sweeter still for love to give its gifts.

A child—the divine
Seal of right upon loves that deserve.

A wise man
Can pluck a leaf and find
A lecture in 't.

Love strikes higher with his lambent flame
Than Art can pile the fagots.

Alas, long-suffering and most patient God,
Thou need'st be surelier God to bear with us
Than even to have made us!

No perfect manners without Christian soul.

Love, the soul of soul, within the soul,
Evolving it sublimely.

You trust a woman who puts forth
Her blossoms thick as summer's?
You think she dreams what love is worth
Who casts it to new-comers?

HOME AGAIN.

The maiden walks the strand no more
Enjoying the ocean breeze,
Where the tiny wavelets kiss the shore
And the sand is alive with fleas.

No more in a suit of blue or drab
She into the water goes;
She fears no more the voracious crab
That sought to devour her toes.

She is done for the while with seaside hops,
Those innocent dissipations;
She has turned her back on dudes and fops,
And given up beach flirtations.

The maiden is back from her summering
To home and its dear delights,
Back to the garden gate to swing
With her beau through the autumn nights.

Our Story Teller.

Our Home-Coming.

"There is no use in trying to keep up my spirits; we never can succeed in making this old broken down habitation fit to live in!" and I, the bride of a week, laid my head on my husband's shoulder and indulged in a good old-fasbioned cry.

"It is a hard looking place, I must admit," said Will; "but you see, little one, father has been unfortunate and this old place was all he had to give me towards making a start in life. Suppose we put our two heads together and try and make the old place 'blossom like the rose.'"

Will's cheerful voice, and the hopeful view he seemed to take concerning the situation, aroused my ambition. I put my arms around the neck of the great strong fellow and promised to aid him in everything that he felt able to undertake.

The next day we laid out a plan of operation and proceeded to act on it without delay.

Years ago there had evidently been a nice little garden in front of the house; but now the ground was completely covered with a heavy growth of obnoxious weeds. The fence (what remained for it) appeared to be of very little use except as a resting place for a score of distressed looking chickens, evidently, the property of some one worse off than ourselves.

Will and I spent two whole days in the exhilarating occupation of pulling up great green stalks, that had "sot and sot" until they had, beyond all possibility of a denial, "about tuk root."

We concluded to arrange the front yard before we turned our attention to the vegetable garden. Will loosened the rich earth with spade and hoe, whilst I wielded the rake in such good earnest that the whole surface of the ground soon presented an appearance sufficiently smooth to convince us that it was only necessary to plant the seed, in order to have a lovely collection of flowers.

We held a consultation of—war, I suppose I must call it, for we intended to totally annihilate the remnant of fence, that needed but a push to lay it flat on the ground.

In looking through the stable loft we found three great coils of heavy wire. It had evidently been the intention of some one to use the wire in the construction of a fence; but, like the "best laid plans of mice and men," the project had been a failure.

I suggested to Will that it would be the easiest thing imaginable to put up a fence. He smiled—not in a way that "was child-like and bland," but as though he felt the least bit incredulous concerning the feasibility of the plan. However, he went to work in such a determined way that he bid fair to distinguish himself in the art of fence making.

From a planing mill in the vicinity he procured a number of flat stakes, about four feet in length; with a large gimlet he bored three holes in each stake. To expedite matters a man was hired for a day to help drive the stakes into the ground, and to assist in putting the wire through.

One week from the day on which Will put his spade into the ground, the fence was completed; a coat of green paint and a row of small shrubbery planted along the inside, gave it a very attractive appearance. We were amply rewarded by hearing a neighbor who resided in the vicinity, declare that "them young people up to Hubb's farm beat everything the way they were fixing up things."

The next thing to be taken in hand was the veranda that extended along the front and the side of the house. We planted a row of Mexican vines, then started toward the wood shed for the purpose of ransacking an old tool chest in the hope of finding a quantity of stout twine; fortunately we came across a roll of thin wire, which would be far superior to ordinary twine in the formation of a support for the climbing vines. A row of small nails were driven along the upper part of railing, and a similar row along the wood work below the eaves. The wire was then wound around each nail, up and down, until it was sufficiently strong to act as a support for the vines.

One bright morning while we were at breakfast, we heard some one pause in front of the house; the next moment a miserable specimen of humanity pushed his way into the house. His clothes were ragged and his face was positively brown with dirt that had probably been accumulating for weeks. I retired behind Will and whispered to him to send the horrid creature away. Instead of granting my request, Will turned to the man and said, "What is the matter, can I do anything for you?"

The man thus encouraged, began a tale of woe unparalleled in the history of any tramp, living or dead. He concluded the harrowing tale by informing us that he was one of best painters this side of "Yurrup."

I put my lips to Will's ear and told him to get the man to paint our house. The man heard me and exclaimed "I'm yer man, ma'am!"

"We will give you your board until you have finished the job, and that is all we feel able to give you," said Will.

"There's nothing mean about me," said our employe. "I take what I can get and be satisfied."

Will procured a quantity of gray paint, and the "traveler" went to work.

"All things come round to him who will but wait," and we did wait for the last touch of paint to be put upon our domicile. For three mortal weeks that poor abused man crept up and down a ladder that stood against the side of the house, at least twenty times a day. Whenever he came down he rested upon the grass fully a half an hour returning to his work. And after making the ascent he seemed to be lost in meditation for such a length of time that I was in constant fear that he would fall off the ladder and break his neck.

The last stroke was added with great reluctance—and so late in the evening that we felt obliged to the painter leaving until the following morning. We had fixed up a temporary bed in the barn for his accommodation. About ten o'clock Will went out to see that everything was all right; he arrived just in time; in a few minutes the whole barn would have been a blaze.

Sir Tramp had disappeared, and is probably at this moment telling how he was imposed upon by two young people who lived in elegant style, who had half a million at their disposal, but who were too mean to offer even the crumb off their table to "a gentleman in reduced circumstances." The house is painted, and that is something gained, though I admit the work could have been done in a style more artistic.

Will worked early and late in the vegetable garden back of the house while I turned my attention toward beautifying the interior of our home.

I had a large trunk filled with cheese cloth, chintz and cretonne. The articles were given to me by an aunt who was very eccentric. When she informed me concerning the contents of the trunk, I must admit that I felt disappointed; I had indulged in the hope that Aunt Sarah's presents would be handsome silverware or China. Will declared that I actually turned up my nose when I opened the trunk; and he stated that I became positively pugnacious when I viewed the contents. My nose had a decided tendency to turn upwards; therefore, I looked very severe and declined to laugh at the fun. Will assured me that he was only joking, and became so eloquent in his eulogistic remarks concerning my nasal appendage, that I could not help laughing, and, of course, peace was restored.

I felt positively grateful toward Aunt Sarah when I realized that the contents of the trunk would enable me to beautify my home so that it would be a "joy forever."

Soft, cream-tinted cheese cloth made lovely curtains for the two windows in my bedroom. I cut off six yards of cloth for each window, hemmed the edges, and run a drawing string through the top, then wound the ends of the string round two nails that were driven firmly in the woodwork directly above the upper sash. I hemmed two yards of the cloth lengthwise, and made a gathered lambrequin; then running a casing about three inches below the top of the hem, to form a frill, I fastened it on the nails that supported the curtain. In order to counteract the plain effect, I made three plaits in the centre and fastened them with a large bow of blue ribbon.

I peeped through the window and saw Will standing directly in front of it, evidently trying to attract my attention. When he saw me he waved his cap in the air and executing a regular war dance, in a style that would have caused an Indian brave to turn green with envy, shouted "bravo! little one, you are making tremendous progress."

Two gentlemen driving by the house in a carriage, looked as though they thought the place a private lunatic asylum. They probably imagined that I was kept in solitary confinement. In regard to Will, I have no doubt but that they looked upon his antics with intense alarm, for they applied the whip to their horse, and in a short time disappeared in the distance.

The floors all through the house had been painted brown. Linseed oil well rubbed into the boards would make them as good as new.

Away down in the trunk already mentioned, I found three bright knitted rugs that had been fashioned by Aunt Sarah's deft fingers; they were just what I needed to lay about the room. My pretty cottage set, all blue and gold (a present from Will's mother) contrasted beautifully with the dark floor and bright rugs. I did not fancy the appearance of the old white mantel; the paint was all worn off and it looked shabby in the extreme. I covered the top with cheese cloth, tacking it underneath; then measuring off three yards of the cloth, I cut it in two lengthwise. Taking one half of the material I hemmed it, and turning down the other side, gathered it about one inch from the top. Small galvanized tacks with round heads, served to fasten the lambrequin on to the mantel, and were rendered invisible by being placed under the folds. A blue bow in the centre and one at each end finished that front of the decoration. I finished the mantel with a pretty nickel clock and two filigree vases.

My youngest sister had made a lovely toilet set, consisting of a pincushion of blue satin, with a spray of "Lilies of the Valley" worked in Kensington stitch across the top, and two bottles covered with satin and worked in the same design. Laying a "crazy work" scarf across the top of my pretty dressing bureau, I placed the toilet set upon it; then paused to note the effect; when a voice at my shoulder exclaimed:

"Why, Bess, you surely must have had the wand of a magician to enable you to accomplish all this!" I turned a smiling face towards my better half, who was so loud in his praise of my work that I felt it would be in my power to "conquer worlds," should occasion arise for such heroic action on my part.

Returning to the trunk, I brought out a piece of cretonne. The pattern was a cluster of crimson rose buds on a dark brown ground. It made pretty covers for my lounge, and for the great easy chair that stood in the corner of the dining room. I made a lambrequin of cretonne, cut it in squares and edging each square with narrow red fringe, fastened it on the mantel with small brass tacks.

Two pretty hassocks were formed by cutting four circular pieces out of the material; two straight pieces about a quarter of a yard in width, and of sufficient length to go around the circular pieces, were cut lengthwise of the goods. Lining all the pieces with stout muslin, I sewed them together and filled each hassock with sawdust. A curtain of cheese cloth made in the same style as those in my bedroom, was put up at the dining room window and drawn back with loops made of cretonne.

I cut sixteen patches five inches square from a lot of gray samples I found in the trunk, and sewing them together formed a large square. Cutting three yards and a quarter of dark bordering directly through the centre, I sewed it firmly around the square, making it bias at each corner so that it could be formed into proper shape. I then basted black star braid along each seam and "cat stitched" it with red silk floss. Ball fringe, about three inches deep, finished the square around the edge, and I am quite sincere in saying that the cover for my dining room table is really beautiful. Two pretty rugs, one in front of the lounge and another in front of the easy chair, make the room look pretty enough to suit the most fastidious taste.

I was determined that my kitchen should have all the conveniences that I could crowd into it. I have a horror of seeing clothing hang against a kitchen wall and everywhere. Will had already earned the title, "Jack of all trades," so that he felt quite equal to the task of putting up a closet. He fastened a row of hooks against the back, which made it just the place for garden hats and clothing worn for out-door work. I made a curtain of brown linen which I gathered at the top, thus hiding the interior from view. A brown linen bag hanging on a nail at the side of the closet, answered as a receptacle for string and all the little odds and ends that are sure to accumulate around a kitchen. I spent an hour making a curtain of white plaid muslin which I hung at the window; and placing a small mirror against the wall so that in case company should arrive unexpectedly, I would be able to make myself presentable before going to receive them. I seated myself in a little straw rocking-chair standing close to the window where Will found me a few moments later, humming the opening bars of "Home, Sweet Home."

One morning, nearly three months from the day on which I entered the old house a bride, Will's father came to visit us. I shall never forget his look of astonishment as his gaze wandered over our well-kept garden and cosily furnished house. He came to me, and laying his hand upon my head, said in a voice that trembled just the least bit: "The old place is transformed past all recognition. Will's wife is worth her weight in gold," and turning towards Will who stood in the background smiling contentedly, he held out his hand and said: "Here, my boy is a check for ten thousand dollars, take it with my blessing; I feel that you will be successful in everything you undertake. You thought the old father was treating you pretty shabby to put you on the old Hubb's dilapidated farm, eh? Don't you see what I wanted to find out? I am satisfied in my own mind that you could have fought the battle of life unassisted by me, but the aid that I have given you will make things easier for your brave little wife, who has worked so faithfully to help you through your difficulties."

The check proved a real blessing. We have one of the finest farms in the country; though Will declares that the little woman who stood by him and assisted him in his efforts to gain a foothold, is far dearer than all the rest of his possessions.

List of Patents.

Official list of patents issued from the United States Patent office to citizens of Pennsylvania on Sept. 1st, 1885. Reported from the office of Patrick O'Farrell, solicitor of patents, Washington, D. C., who will furnish information free.

A Curious Pitcher Plant.

Floral Cabinet.

The pitcher plant or monkey-cap of the east has a whimsical arrangement which borders closely upon the human economy. To the footstalk of each leaf of this plant near the base, is attached a kind of a bag shaped like a pitcher, of the same consistence and color as the leaf in the earlier state of its growth, but changing with age to a reddish purple. It is girt around with an oblique band or hoop, and covered with a lid neatly fitted, and movable on a kind of hinge or strong fiber, which, passing over the handle connects the vessel with the leaf. By the shrinking or contracting of this fiber the lid is drawn open whenever the weather is showery or damp. When sufficient moisture has fallen and the pitcher saturated the cover falls down so firmly that evaporation cannot ensue. The water is thus gradually absorbed through the handle in the footstalk of the leaf, giving sustenance and vigor to the plant. As soon as the pitchers are exhausted, the lids open again to admit whatever moisture may fall; and when the plant has produced its seed, and the dry season fairly sets in, it withers, with all the covers of the pitchers standing open.

Spain's Fighting Bulls.

[Madrid Cor. New York Telegram.]

I felt some curiosity to know where the bulls came from, for all bulls are not of the fighting kind. Upon inquiry I learned that the fighting bulls came from Andalusia, in the southern part of Spain, and are carefully bred for this especial purpose. My next anxiety was to see how they took them from place to place, and my curiosity was gratified by witnessing the transfer of a number of bulls intended for the ring from the cars to the stables in the amphitheater. They were removed one at a time with the assistance of a drove of oxen trained for the purpose. These oxen were twelve in number, all white, and large, fine-looking animals. Most of them had bells around their necks. They are trained to surround the bull, and seem to coax him to come quietly along. They follow a leader who obeys the voice of a horseman who goes ahead and guides them. Other horseman are in the rear and on the flanks, but are mounted on good fleet animals that can get out of the way of a mad bull when necessary, and it usually is necessary when the bull comes that way.

The Weather at Honolulu.

"Talk about tornadoes and cyclones," said Reserve Officer Stark. "People living in this section of the country don't know what they are. In the neighborhood of the Sandwich islands, and particularly off Honolulu, which is at the head of a land-locked harbor, is the place for hurricanes. The mountains back of Honolulu are saw-shaped and they have a queer effect on the atmospheric currents. There is no anchorage outside the harbor and vessels that don't care to touch at Honolulu usually 'lay off and on,' as the sailors have it, while they send a boat ashore. I have seen a half dozen ships lying off Honolulu within hailing distance of each other—one in a shower of rain, another in a dead calm, with a bright sun shining overhead; a third in a smoooth breeze and a fourth in such a gale that everything had to be close-reefed.

"The different air currents are so close together and so sharply defined that I have been standing on the deck of a vessel with the sun shining brightly overhead and not air enough moving to fill the sails, while within ten feet of me on one side it was raining big guns, and not twenty feet the other way blowing a regular hurricane. I never shall forget one incident. It was about noon and I was leaning over the port rail amidships. There wasn't air enough blowing to lift a feather. Suddenly I heard a roar and knew that a tornado was passing by the ship. It was so close that when I stretched out my hand the wind struck it with such force that I was whirled completely around. Our part anchor, which weighed about a ton and a half, was hanging on the rail forward, and the same gust struck one of the flukes. It tore loose the fastenings, whirled that anchor through the air like a bit of thistle-down, and left it hanging on the main-yard arm. It put us to a heap of trouble to get it down again.

Check of a Lady Correspondent.

[Harper's Bazar.]

Col. Higginson tells of a lady who said that she should look forward with perfect satisfaction to the coming summer, if she knew that there was not such a thing as a lady correspondent in the world, and he himself adds, reckoning up her tribulations, that she knew that, if there were a wedding in her house the most intimate details of the trousseau would be seen and reported, or imagined and reported. Little does he, in his masculine honesty know of the wiles of the "lady," correspondent," that is to say, the "lady" who feels that she stoops in becoming a "lady correspondent."

A woman who by virtue of her family's importance and the elevation of her own character leads society in one of the principal cities of the country, tells a good story of one of these persons. "I sent her a card for the church when my daughter was married," she says, "because, as Carlyle remarked to Mallock, 'I knew her mother,' but I stopped there, determined that she should not enter my house; but just at the moment when the very cream of my guests appeared, in she walked, cool as antarctic snow, clung to my best usher's arm and forced him to show her the presents, then mercifully sent him off, took notes of gowns for a time, and then pounced on the young man of the evening, made him leave his party and take her down to supper, and then, calm as a summer zephyr, floated up to me with 'Good evening. It has been a beautiful wedding, and I'm so much obliged to you for an opportunity to see everything.' Lady! Why, my laundress would not behave so! I would rather starve with Helen Harkness than succeed like that woman! And she spoke of my 'distinguished courtesy' in her letter. How I longed to be without it for two minutes, to take to her, and do justice to her!"

A Reminiscence of Grant.

One Sunday last summer, before General Grant's disease was discovered, he sat on the ocean porch of his cottage at Long Branch. The friend who sat with him happened to speak of Garfield, when the General, who was still suffering from the effects of his fall on the eve of the previous Christmas, said:

"Do you know, as I have been obliged to sit day after day awaiting the slow recovery of my injury, I have often thought of poor Garfield as he lay at Elberon, looking wistfully out on the ocean and waiting the certain but slow and tedious approach of death. In such a dying it seems to me a man must suffer all the torments of the damned—to know that death is approaching and to feel so utterly powerless and impotent in its face. Between such a lingering death and a sudden death, an honest man, prepared to meet his Maker, would infinitely prefer the latter."

"The General's words made only a light impression at the time, but were quickly remembered when the disease was developed."

A Donkey goes up with a Balloon.

"If I were to tell that I saw an immense balloon once go up on Chestnut Street, with a live donkey hanging below the car and a man on the back of the animal, you would probably think I was yarning it," said a baldheaded friend to me yesterday.

"Tell it to me for the present generation," I replied.

"It was nearly thirteen years ago. Balloon ascensions were quite common then in Philadelphia. We had a number of local aeronauts—the Wises, Purseys, Kings and Donaldsons—and every once in a while a foreign professor would arrive in town and make things lively. Where Frank Siddall now has his office on Chestnut street, above Tenth, was located Parkinson's famous gardens, and it was from there that the balloon ascended with the live donkey attached. The long-eared little fellow never kicked as the balloon slowly ascended. He was strapped around the body very securely, and as he arose the band played, the people shouted and laughed, and the man on his back, who, I think, was one of the Puseys, took off his cap and waved it to the crowd a thousand feet below. His donkeyship was evidently frightened almost to death. He arched his head and neck to one side and looked downward while he went heavenward. He sailed away to West Philadelphia somewhere and came down all right with his rider after reaching an altitude of 8,000 feet."

Remarkable Record of Longevity.

Dr. Fathan Allen, of Lowell, Mass., contributes to the Mail of that city an article on health and longevity, in which, by way of illustration, he cites the following remarkable facts from the records of his ancestors: "In 1750 two brothers, Jonathan and Nehemiah Allen, went from Sunbury to Barre, when the latter place was a comparative wilderness. They belonged to the third generation from Walter Allen, who died in Charlestown in 1681, and willed to his oldest son, John, a 'Watertown farm' of 200 acres, which afterward became a part of Sunbury. Those two brothers, with wives from Lexington and Concord, settled in Barre as farmers. Jonathan Allen and wife died at the ages of 92 and 87. They had seven children, one dying in infancy; but three sons and three daughters died at these ages: 67, 72, 77, 86, 87, and 88, with an average, including the fractions of a year, of over 80. Nehemiah Allen and wife died at the ages of 87 and 66. They had ten children—four sons and six daughters—dying at these ages: 78, 80, 80, 82, 84, 92, 92, 95, 96, and 96, making an average of 87½, and with the fractions of a year added it makes an average age of over 88. There were five out of the number ranging above 90, and three coming up to almost 100. It is doubtful whether another instance of so large a family, all its members reaching so great an age, can be found in the whole history of New England. Most, if not all, of these persons lived in Barre and its vicinity, and were engaged in agricultural pursuits."

Greenbacks.

"Old Greenbacks," was the soubriquet given to Secretary Chase in the army, from the green ink with which the backs of the United States paper money was printed. This ink was invented by Stacy E. Edson, and patented in 1857, as anti-phographic. It could not be photographed on account of its color, and could not be dislodged by alkalies by the counterfeiters to get a complete facsimile of the bills, and as it was a secret known only by the American Bank Note company and the inventor, it was impossible to counterfeit the greenback money. It was used by many banks before the war, but was never a leading feature in the bill; but even if the composition of the ink had been known, it would have been of no use, as the work could not be copied from the genuine bills with any kind of ink. The date of the patent could be seen on all the bills, in small print. Old General Spinner wanted to have Congress enact a law making the counterfeiting of national notes a capital offence, as was once the case in Great Britain, and to have them bear the legend which had been on the bills then issued by the Bank of England: "To Counterfeit is Death."

Accidents That are Costly.

New York Sun.

"You occasionally hear people find fault because managers of railroads do not prevent accidents," said a railroad man in Jersey City the other day. "There may be bears among railroad owners, who rejoice in wrecking railroad that they do not own, but to the practical railroader a train wreck is a big loss in prestige which follows."

"Is the rolling stock so costly?"

"Yes, a freight for train, instance, that rolls down an enbankment, where half of it is burned, will give you a good idea of the loss. The average engine is worth $7,000. A common freight car is worth $475, or perhaps $500. The ordinary gondolas are worth from $400 to $425. An engine is rarely ruined beyond repair, but a wreck can knock $3,000 out of it just as easy as rolling off a log. A burned car is a ruined car of course, and repairs on those that are crushed may cost anywhere from $60 to $200 each. If a passenger car, such as is used on ordinary roads, is burned, $3,500 goes up in smoke. These figures are for the cars in use, and not new out of the shop. From this you may see that wrecks may happen which cost a company $10,000, and yet nothing is likely to be said about them in the papers unless some one gets hurt, and not then if the railroad men can keep it quiet."

Medical, Etc.

MALARIAL POISON.

The principal cause of nearly all sickness at this time of the year has its origin in a disordered Liver, which if not regulated in time, great suffering, wretchedness and death will ensue. A gentleman writing from South America says: "I have used your Simmons' Liver Regulater with good effect, both as a prevention and cure for Malarial Fevers on the Isthmus of Panama.

Brief Telegrams.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2.—The Ohio Coal Exchange has agreed to the fifty-cent rate demanded by the miners in Hocking Valley and work will be resumed to-morrow morning. The Columbus Hocking Coal and Iron company refused to accede to the demand and will close the mines at New Straitsville.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The coroner's jury in the case of Tom Davis, who was shot and killed on Monday by James T. Holland, of Texas, rendered a verdict that Davis died from a pistol shot wound at the hands of Holland. Holland plead guilty. He was committed without bail.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Sept. 2.—The drivers strike at Mount Carmel colliery ended to-day, and to-morrow morning four hundred employes will resume work. The drivers did not gain their point, and will return to work on the conditions against which they struck.

BRIGHTON BEACH, Sept. 2.—Moran, the jockey of Miss Daly, in the second race to-day was thrown in the back stretch and killed by the fall.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., September 2.—The steamer Hanovarian from Baltimore, August 24, for Liverpool, ran aground at Portugal Cave this morning. She is a total loss. The Hanovarian had on board twenty-one cabin, nine intermediate and one hundred and forty-five steerage passengers all of whom have been saved by vessels which went to the assistance of the wrecked vessel.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—The bills in equity filed in the cases of the Commonwealth vs. the South Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the Pennsylvania Company et al, have been amended so as to include the Bedford and Bridgeport Railroad Company as a party defendant to the bill of complaint. William M. Graydon will be one of the Vanderbilt counsel in the great case.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 2.—A train on the Indiana Bloomington and Western railroad, while running thirty miles an hour, was thrown from the track by a misplaced switch, and the engine and baggage car were completely demolished. Engineer Haylar and Fireman Taylor were both fatally injured. The passengers were badly shaken up, but none were seriously injured.

ELK RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 3.—The Elk Rapids Iron Company has received an order for 400 tons of charcoal iron, to be shipped to England, probably the first iron of Western manufacture ever shipped from this country.

"What Constitutes Aristocracy?"

Some people would pretend to assert that America has no aristocracy and in support of their assertion will quote the converation between a native of America and a native of England in which the latter attempted to explain to the former the peculiarities of English aristocracy and the American nodded his head wisely in reply as he exclaimed—"We have them here, too; only we call them tramps!"

But the plain fact is that America has an aristocracy, and the question in our mind just now is—Is this aristocracy less objectionable than that of England? Here the so-called aristocracy which seems to dominate even in small towns is based on the possession of wealth. It is not good-breeding—it is not intelligence—but the possessor of wealth enters and rules the best society no matter what business he may be engaged in. There is an ameliorating circumstance in America, however. The aristocracy of to-day is not likely to be the parent of the aristocracy of the future generation. Circumstances change so greatly—fortunes come and go so rapidly—that the family now at the foot of the ladder stands a good chance of being at the top in the future. But even this circumstance does not change the objectionable character of the American aristocracy and it seems to us it should be based differently. Indeed, it would be more agreeable to the structure of a Republican government to have no such class at all, and we shall denominate it a necessary evil.

The aristocracy of England has birth or blood for its basis. This, although it may lack merit in the present generation, was certainly once based on a merit which gained the right to distinction. The present possessor may not have a right to rank above his fellows, but his predecessors had some sort of merit to gain a title. But it sadly deteriorates at length and proves to be a fraud.

From this we conclude that the only aristocracy worth paying any attention to is that of mind, not of mansions or of family. Other aristocracy there should be none in this country.

Medical, Etc.

Only Temperance Bitters Known.

No other medicine known so effectually purges the blood of deep-seated diseases.

Millions bear testimony to its wonderful curative effects.

It is a purely Vegetable Preparation, made from the native herbs and roots of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol.

It removes the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health.

It is the great Blood Purifier and Life-giving Principle; a Gentle Purgative and Tonic; a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the power of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to.

The Alterative, Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Anti-Bilious, Solvent, Diuretic and Tonic properties of VINEGAR BITTERS exceed those of any other medicine in the world.

No person can take the BITTERS according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Bilious, Remittent, Intermittent and Malarial Fevers, are prevalent throughout the United States, particularly in the valleys of our great rivers and their vast tributaries during the Summer and Autumn, especially during seasons of unusual heat and dryness.

These Fevers are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these organs, is absolutely necessary.

There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as it will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed.

It Invigorates the Stomach and stimulates the torpid Liver and Bowels, cleansing the blood of all impurities, imparting life and vigor to the frame, and carrying off without the aid of Calomel, or other minerals, all poisonous matter from the system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Pneumonia, Dizziness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are at once relieved by VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, the Bitters have no equal. In these, as in all constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS has shown its great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to Paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take occasional doses of VINEGAR BITTERS.

Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Swellings, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations, Humors and diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of the Bitters.

Pin, Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like VINEGAR BITTERS.

Measles, Scarlet Fever, Mumps, Whooping Cough, and all children's diseases may be made less severe by keeping the bowels open with mild doses of the Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, this Bitters has no equal.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood when its impurities burst through the skin in Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when, and the health of the system will follow.

In conclusion: Give the Bitters a trial. It will speak for itself. One bottle is a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Around each bottle are full directions printed in different languages.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION proposed to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance to the last section of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, that the following is proposed as an amendment of to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof.

AMENDMENT.

That section five of article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows: "Whenever a county shall contain forty thousand inhabitants it shall constitute a separate judicial district, and shall elect one judge learned in the law; and the General Assembly shall provide for additional judges, as the business of the said district may require. Counties containing a population less than is sufficient to constitute separate districts shall be formed into convenient single districts, or, if necessary, may be attached to contiguous districts, as the General Assembly may provide. The office of associate judge, not learned in the law, is abolished in counties forming separate districts; but the several associate judges in office when this constitution shall be adopted shall serve for their unexpired terms," be and the same is hereby amended, so as to read as follows: Whenever a county shall contain sixty thousand inhabitants it may constitute a separate judicial district, and may elect one judge learned in the law; and the General Assembly shall provide for additional judges, as the business of said district may require. Counties not forming separate districts shall be formed into convenient single districts, as the General Assembly may provide. The office of associate judge, not learned in the law, is abolished in counties forming separate districts and having more than one law judge; every other county shall elect two associate judges, who shall not be required to be learned in the law; but the several associate judges in office, when this amendment shall be adopted, shall serve for their unexpired term.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

The Caroline Islands.

MADRID, Sept. 5.—Last night official dispatches reached the government from the Philippines, stating that a German gunboat landed troops on the night of the 24th of August at Yap Island and hoisted the German flag there. The Spanish vessels San Quenten and Manilla were at Yap Bay at the time. The captains of the Spanish vessels and the Spanish governor—since dismissed by telegraph—protested with energy against the occupation. The Spanish gunboats cleared decks for action and the Manilla was about to open fire upon the German gunboat, when she was signalled to desist, which she did most reluctantly. A third Spanish vessel, the Velasco, has arrived at Yap Bay.

This news causes the wildest excitement throughout Spain. Crowds gathered in the streets of Madrid all night long, frantically gesticulating and calling the Emperor William, the Crown Prince and Bismarck the vilest names. Several thousand people shouting "Death to Bismarck!" "Viva Espana!" mobbed the German Embassy, smashed the windows, breaking into a thousand pieces the German arms on the Embassy building and trampling the fragments under their feet. The Embassy was completely wrecked. The furniture and mirors were dashed to pieces, the people almost foaming at their mouths with frenzy.

It is stated that the governor of Yap wished to resist the landing of the German marines and sailors, but that the commander of the Spanish man of war, San Quentin, which was the only vessel of that nationality in the harbor at the time, refused to agree with the governor as to the adoption of such a course or to lend the latter assistance. It is generally believed that the commander of the Spanish man-of-war, Velasco, which was expected at Yap on August 26, carried with him energetic orders. At a council of ministers an order was issued dismissing the governor and the commanders of the two vessels at Yap for neglect of duty, the latter for not immediately garrisoning the island with Spanish soldiers on their arrival there, and the former for not hoisting the Spanish flag and proclaiming the suzeranity of Spain over the island.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—News of the riot only reached here yesterday morning. Count Herbert Bismarck, acting secretary of state in the absence of Count Hatzfeldt, telegraphed instantly to the chancellor at Varzin, where he was preparing to join the aged Kaiser at the military manœuvres in the neighborhood. He communicated the facts to the emperor at noon, and curtly explained the imperious need of demanding full, frank and humble reparation from Spain.

MADRID, Sept. 6.—A council of ministers, with the sanction of King Alfonso, has framed and dispatched to the German government an ultimatum requesting Germany to evacuate Carolina Island. Spain, in the meantime, will refrain from material occupation of the islands and thus afford a basis for further parleying. The total number of arrests made here in connection with the demonstration against Germany is 184.

The Excitement Subsiding.

MADRID, Sept. 7.—Dispatches just received regarding the German occupation of Yap, state that the Spanish flag had been lowered at sunset, for the night, as is customary with all nationalities, and that immediately afterward the German gunboat ran in, landed marines and sailors, hoisted the German colors and formally occupied the place, despite the protestations of the Spaniards.

Prince Bismarck has offered to withdraw the German forces from Yap provided Spain will not occupy it pending a diplomatic solution of the question as to Spain's claim over the island. Germany will acknowledge Spanish occupation of Yap provided Spain proves that the Spanish flag had been hoisted on the island before the German gunboat had arrived in the harbor. The excitement in Madrid over the affair has quieted down. Everything was tranquil last night.

Count Von Holtzfeldt, in his statement to Count Benoman regarding the orders that had been given to the German gunboat, meant that the gunboat had been forbidden to hoist the German flag where the Spanish flag had already been hoisted. He said that the disobedience of the commander of the gunboat would not affect the situation.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—M. De Freycinct, minister of foreign affairs, is hurriedly returning to Paris in consequence of the excitement occasioned by the Carolines affair. The Spanish residents at Marseilles threaten to attack the German consulate in that city. The local authorities have taken steps to prevent any repetition of the Madrid outrage. The newspapers of Paris, in commenting on the difficulty between Germany and Spain, insist that Prince Bismarck is trying to embroil France in the affair. ■

The Movement against the Chinese.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Adjutant General Drum to-day telegraphed instructions to Major General Schofield, at Chicago, to order additional United States troops to Evanston, Wyoming territory, where the fleeing Chinese are concentrating, and to all other points along the routes of the United States mails in that territory where there are indications of trouble. Information was received to-day that the two companies of soldiers ordered to the scene of the disturbance yesterday arrived at Evanston this morning and the condition of affairs there is threatenint.

The instructions already given go the United States troops in Wyoming contemplate only the protection of the mails, but it is understood that in case the troubles continue that the president and his cabinet will consider the general question of directing the military forces to surpress the disorder by the use of arms if neccessary.

Dr. McCarter, now an attache of the Japanese lagation in this city, who has resided in China for forty years, part of the time as a representative of this country, and again as an official in the Chinese diplomatic service, was speaking to-day concerning the diplomatic aspect of the massacre of the Chinese foreign office and the state department here, but he does not think China is likely to take any vigorous action in the matter.

CHEYENNE, W. T., September 7.—Twenty-two of the supposed murderers in the Rock Spring riot have been arrested. They will have a hearing to-morrow. More arrests will follow. It is now estimated that the number of Chinamen who lost their lives, including several who have since died from their wounds, is about fifty. All the Chinamen at work in the Aling coal mines, numbering about 400, have been taken to Evanstone under escort of United States troops.

Snow Storm in Dakota.

DEADWOOD, Dak., Sept. 6.—The unpleasant weather of the past two weeks culminated in a snow storm today. The thermometer has ranged from 50° to 60° and more or less rain has fallen daily. The outlook for grain is gloomy in the extreme. Four-fifths of all the crops are cut, and the bulk is lying on the ground, heating and growing, much that is stacked being destroyed even for feed. Practically no threshing has been done yet, and it begins to look as though there would be nothing to thresh. Prices have advanced 200 per cent., and few sales are made at any price. Farmers are greatly discouraged,

ST. PAUL, Sept. 5.—The severest frost of the season fell in southern Minnesota, Iowa, and western Wisconsin on Saturday morning. In some places ice formed. Garden truck was badly damaged, and corn more or less severely injured. In Wisconsin the cranberry marshes suffered severely in the vicinity of Berlin, one firm, Polmer & Finch, estimating their loss at $20,000.

The P. R. R. Answer Ready.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The answer of the Pennsylvania railroad company to the attorney general's bill in equity is about completed, and on Tuesday morning will be presented to Judge Simonton, at Harrisburg. It has been prepared with great care, with the advice of the best attorneys in the city.

A great array of legal talent will be present to defend the suit. United States Senator William M. Evarts, of New York, will appear for the Pittsburg defendants, and the Pennsylvania company will be represented by Hon. Wayne MacVeigh, of this city. A large number of railway magnates will attend as witnesses. Attorney General Cassidy has made ample preparations to show cause for a permanent injunction, and the struggle will be a battle of giants.

The South Pennsylvania Case.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—General Solicitor Scott, Assistant Solicitor Logan and General Counsel Wayne MacVeigh and David W. Sellers, of the Pennsylvania railroad company, were in consultation nearly all day preparing the company's defense to be presented to the Dauphin county court at Harrisburg to morrow in the suit brought by the attorney general of the state to prevent the transfer of the South Pennsylvania railroad. It is intimated that the attorney general will ask for a postponement on the ground that the State is not ready with its case.

The President Leaves for Washington.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 6.—President Cleveland who arrived here at an early hour this morning with Dr. Ward, went immediately to the latter's residence, where he remained until 5.30 o'clock this afternoon, leaving for Washington immediately, afterwards accompanied only by Colonel Lamont. He left on the regular train over the West Shore railroad, President Winslow's private car being placed at his disposal. During the day the state officers and many local politicians called upon President Cleveland.

Bob Maylor, the Railroad Hero, Dies,

SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 6.—Bob Haylor, the engineer who stuck to his post in last Wednesday's accident, on the Indiana, Bloomington and Western Railroad to save the lives of the passengers, died here to-night from the result of his injuries. His act was one of the most heroic on record, as he braved a certain death to save the lives of the hundred and fifty passengers, many of whom would have been killed had he deserted his post. His funeral will be very largely attended.

Brightened Up.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 7.—The Allentown Rolling Mill company will resume work in its puddle mill tomorrow. The bar and guide mill are now in operation and work will probably be continued for six months without interruption.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

Milesburg Matters.

A note received Monday morning from the Daily News' correspondent at Milesburg states that Mr. Meyers and his son, Oscar, who were in the great storm at sea forty miles out from Savannah, left Orlanda, Fla., on Monday morning and arrived in Milesburg Saturday morning. They do not like Florida. They also met with a road accident near Atlantic City. One man on the train had a leg broken and the head of another was cut, but the Messrs. Meyers escaped unhurt. As a memento of their visit to Florida they brought with them a live alligator about two feet in length. Mr. John Neff, the other member of the party, will remain in Florida, and writes favorably of it.

Miss Minnie Bronvel left Milesburg for Philipsburg Monday evening. She will probably remain some time.

Mr. W. H. Musser has constructed a brick pavement in front of his residence and Mr. Miles is putting down a similar walk in front of his house. These will add greatly to the appearance of the borough streets.

Miss Alice Wetzler, who teaches a music class in Snow Shoe, has been visiting her parents in Milesburg. She returned to Snow Shoe Monday.

Excursion Rates for the Veteran's Picnic.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has ordered excursion tickets to be sold at all stations on the Tyrone & Bald Eagle Valley Railroad and branches (which includes the branch from Lemont to this place) to all persons attending the Veteran Club picnic on Saturday, Sept. 12th, next.

The people from Boalsburg and vicinity will pay full fare to Lemont, then excursion rates from Lemont to Bellefonte and return to Lemont.

On the railroad east of Lemont, card orders for excursion rates have been placed in the hands of the following persons for distribution, to whom all who wish the card rates will please apply: William Shope or Andrew Gregg, Centre Hall; J. I. Condo, Spring Mills; Jas. P. Coburn, Aaronsburg.

Notice to Delegates.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE,

The delegates attendsnt at the County Convention held in Humes' block, Pa., on July 1, A. D. 1885, are respectfully requested to reassemble in convention at HUMES' BLOCK, BELLEFONTE, PA., on TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1885, at two (2) o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of nominating one (1) candidate for Jury Commissioner, one (1) candidate for Coroner, and also to elect a Chairman of the County Committee for 1886 and transact such other business as may be properly brought before the Convention.

—Mr. Chas. L. Gates, collector of the Daily News and REPUBLICAN, was the recipient on Friday from an unknown fair friend, of a box filled with superb flowers. They arrived in good condition, and when he removed the lid of the box he sat and gazed at them so long and admiringly that the blossoms soon became as fresh as if just plucked from the parent stem. He has an idea that his best girl sent these beautiful blossoms to him, but as the uncertainty deprives him of the pleasure of thanking her personally, we take this means of extending his thanks to her with the assurance that he considers her just as pretty as the prettiest flower in the collection.

—Mr. George Straub, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Spring township, died Friday night at his residence about two miles from Bellefonte. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. Chas. T. Steck to officiate.

—"I say Bobby," whispered a young man, "was your sister pleased to learn that I had called upon her?" "Yes indeed she was," replied the boy. "When mother told her that Mr. —— had called when she was out she said Thank Heaven!"

—Charles Ward, Jr., an infant son of Charles L. and Maud Ward, of Lock Haven, died on Sunday and was buried on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Ward have relatives in Bellefonte who will deeply sympathise with them.

—The barn of D. S. Erb, in Ferguson township, was destroyed by fire on Monday morning, August 31. The building was not insured, but there was an insurance of $300 on the contents.

—The "Tyrone Topics" of the Altoona Tribune say that "H. C. Brew, Esq., was elected P. S. C. of the O. O. of H." We hope this position is not a dangerous one.

THE BEECH CREEK R. R.

One of the Best Descriptions of the Road Ever Written.

The following complete description of the B. C., C. & S. W. Railroad is from the Philadelphia Inquirer. It will be read with interest and profit:

The Beech Creek, Clearfield and Southwestern railroad extends from Jersey Shore, sixteen miles west of Williamsport, to Philipsburg on the western edge of Centre county, a distance of about seventy-five miles. The general course of the road is almost southwesterly. For nearly ten miles after leaving Jersey Shore, the road runs along near the Susquehanna river.

Near Lock Haven a narrow, shallow stream, called Beech creek, empties into the Susquehanna. The railroad here leaves the river and ascends the valley of the creek. All mountain streams are crooked, but few can show a more tortuous course than Beech creek. In and out of the mountains forming the Bald Eagle ridge the little river flows and the railroad follows its winding course. In some places the road is one continuous series of curves, and some of them quite long and others short.

CURVES.

Nobody has yet counted curves, but three hundred would be a low estimate for the seventy-three miles of road. They are sharpest and most numerous in the Bald Eagle ridge, covering the distance of perhaps twenty-five miles.

The railroad follows this crooked creek to Snow Shoe summit, where it has its source. This place is about forty miles form Lock Haven, near which the creek empties into the Susquehanna. As its name implies it is the summit of the Snow Shoe range. The road crosses a plateau until it strikes the Moshannon creek, six miles beyond Snow Shoe. This creek flows nearly north to the west branch of the Susquehanna. It is the boundary between Centre and Clearfield counties. The road runs up the Moshannon about due south to Philipsburg, eighteen miles away. This is the terminus of the main line.

There is a branch which starts out from the main line at Munson's Mill, seven miles east of Philipsburg, and runs in a westerly direction. This branch is forty-one miles long and runs to Gazzam, a prospective town two miles from Ansonville, Clearfield county. One of the large coal fields owned by the company is located here. This branch has not yet been fairly opened, no passenger trains are run, and the only business done is the transportation of a few cars of coal a day. At Woodland, about half way between Munson's Mill and Gazzam, a small branch four miles long extends to Clearfield, the county seat. There are of course laterals along the main line leading to the various coal mines and lumber mills which ship their product over the road.

THE CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The road is built in the most substantial manner. Particular attention seems to have been paid to the road bed. More dirt and stones have been dumped in the fillings than was absolutely necessary, but the result has been a foundation that will stand the washings from the hills for many years. The cuttings are also abundantly wide for a single track road. The rock met with is a hard sandstone, which is used for ballasting the road Beech and Moshannon creeks are crossed a number of times, and at each crossing the bridges are of iron of the most approved design.

The masonry seems amply able to withstand all the strain that may be brought against it. About fourteen miles east of Philipsburg the road passes over a viaduct 117 feet above Moshannon creek. This is built of iron and is a fine piece of engineering. Two or three streams are crossed on wooden trestles, but wherever the two large creeks are met iron bridges are used. As there is almost no business over the Gazzam extension there is one place where the grade is ninety feet. These easy curves and grades are of incalculable advantage in a hilly country.

On the Tyrone and Clearfield branch of the Pennsylvania railroad it is said there are eighteen degree curves and grades of 160 feet to the mile. Certain it is that five engines are required to haul forty loaded coal cars from Osceola to the summit. On the Beech Creek road, however, one engine will haul forty cars from the mines to the end of the line. The saving in wear and tear, fuel and wages is, of course, very great. What the difference in the expenses of operating is only railroad men know.

POSSIBLE CONNECTIONS.

Should the Pennsylvania gain control of the Beech Creek road it is expected that the new line will be connected with the Philadelphia and Erie. The advantage in operating is too great, it is thought, to be thrown away. At Mill Hall, three miles west of Lock Haven, the Beech Creek and Bald Eagle valley road run side by side for some distance. At one point the tracks are not more than seventy-five feet apart. A few hundred dollars will connect the two roads. From Mill Hall traffic could pass down to the Philadelphia and Erie track at Lock Haven, and then to Sunbury, where the Northern Central's line would be used as the main line at Harrisburg.

The distance from Philipsburg would be increased about forty miles, but the greater distance would be more than balanced by the lighter grades and curves. By way of Tyrone the distance to Harrisburg is 142 miles. The new route would be 61 miles on the Beech Creek to Mill Hall; 69 miles on the Philadelphia and Erie to Sunbury, and 53 miles on the Northern Central to Harrisburg; a total of 183 miles. All but 13 miles of the Beech Creek road would thus be used as a main line, and the 13 miles would constitute a connection with the Vanderbilt system at Jersey Shore Of course, the Reading will get nothing.

The principal mines of the company are at Peale. This town is 16 miles east of Philipsburg, and it would be greatly to the advantage of the Pennsylvania to ship from this mine by way of Philadelphia and Erie, as the distance to Harrisburg, by way of Mill Hall, is about the same as by way of Philipsburg.

AN EXCELLENT ROAD.

The railroad, as has been said before, is a single track line. As it is only a year since the ties were laid, they show no signs of decay. The sills are of the standard length, and are well laid. The rails are of steel seventy-eight pounds to the yard, which is next to the heaviest rail manufactured and in use. The road is ballasted throughout with stone, most of the distance with the crushed sandstones taken out of the mountains, and a little at the eastern end with round, pebble-like stones, which ought to belong to the drift period. On all the curves the outer rail has been braced. The brace consists of two pieces, one of which presses against the head of the rail, being plumb with its face, and the other piece fitting under the head and against the side. Three spikes secure each brace to the tie. There are three braces against every rail, one near each end and one about the middle. As the rails were well spiked in the beginning the brace makes them firm to stand any business that may come along, however heavy.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES.

The great advantage of the Beech Creek road is its easy curves and comparatively light grades. There are one or two twelve-degree curves along the line, which is not considered heavy in a mountainous country. The greatest grade is fifty-four feet to the mile, which is found in two places for short distances. It is said that on the Gazzam extension there is one place where the grade is ninety feet. These easy curves and grades are of incalculable advantage in a hilly country.

On the Tyrone and Clearfield branch of the Pennsylvania railroad it is said there are eighteen degree curves and grades of 160 feet to the mile. Certain it is that five engines are required to haul forty loaded coal cars from Osceola to the summit. On the Beech Creek road, however, one engine will haul forty cars from the mines to the end of the line. The saving in wear

In August, 1878, C. A. Wood & Co. commenced the manufacture, in Philadelphia, of the now well-known Philadelphia Singer Sewing Machines. At first they only made ten machines a week. Their business has steadily increased, until now they are probably the largest manufacturers of this style of machine in the United States. They do business on a liberal and just basis. They sell a three-drawer, drop leaf and cover machine for the low price of twenty dollars, including all the extra attachments, and warrant them for three years. They offer to send one to any responsible man or woman, to be tested in their own house two weeks before they pay one cent. This is certainly a fair proposition. They have found this way of doing business more satisfactory than to do as other companies do who charge forty to fifty dollars for machines, and pay agents twenty dollars apiece to sell them. We advise all in want of a machine to send for circular and testimonials. Address C. A. Wood & Co., North Tenth St., Phila., Pa. s8 3t

Supremely Delightful

To the emaciated and debilitated invalid is the sense of returning health and strength produced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. When that promoter of vigor is tested by persons in feeble health, its restorative and vitalizing potency soon evinces itself in improved appetite, digestion and nightly repose, the sole condition under which strength and nerve quietude is vouchsafed to the human system, A gain in flesh of course ensues upon the restoration of digestion and assimilation. As surely as winter follows the fall of the leaf, does disease shadow the footsteps of declining strength, when the premature decadence of vitality is not arrested. Marasmus, consumption and other wasting maladies are prompt to fasten upon the enfeebled. Avert disease, therefore, with this grand enabling tonic, which not only renews failing strength, but mitigates and counteracts the infirmities of age and those of the gentler sex. Rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney troubles yield to it.

Three Mysterious Deaths.

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 8.—There is much excitement at St. Joseph, this county, over three mysterious deaths which have occurred within a short time in one family. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Peabody were prominent and honored residents. Miss Belle Hasty, a young woman of fine character and pleasant manners, lived with the Peabody family and was said to be engaged to young Silas Peabody. Young Peabody's parents, particularly his mother, were opposed to this marriage, owing to Miss Hasty's poor health.

On August 2d Mrs. Peabody died very suddenly of what appeared to be neuralgia of the stomach. On August 17th Mr. Peabody died with the same symptoms. On September 1st Miss Hasty and young Silas Peabody were taken with the same symptoms, and the young lady died, while the young man has recovered. Since that time suspicion has been awakened by the alleged discovery of a package of rat-poison pinned to an undergarment which Miss Hasty had laid off just before her death, that the latter had poisoned Mr. and Mrs. Peabody with the hopes of marrying the son, and then concluded to kill him and herself. On Sunday a clergyman refused to preach her funeral sermon until the matter was cleared up. An investigation will be made.

Heavy Rains in Kansas.

PARSONS, September 8.—A heavy rain storm set in here Sunday night and the rain continued to pour down, with but brief intervals until late yesterday afternoon. The streets of the city were flooded and the water rushed through them with fearful velocity, covering the sidewalks and flooding cellars. The creeks of this section are all out of their banks for the third time this season, and farmers living on the lowlands are again subjected to great damage and loss.

The city is surrounded by water, which in some places is several miles wide. Many people living in the suburbs, along La Belle creek, have been forced to vacate their homes and seek higher ground. Some stock has been drowned but no human lives lost. The Kansas City, Fort Scott and Gulf railroad has two washouts just east of here and no train from Kansas City has come in over that road since Saturday night. The Missouri Pacific track is still solid, but in several places east and north of here water is running over the track, and washouts are feared should more rain fall.

Mishap to a Pleasure Party.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept 7.—This morning two rowboats containing a number of summer boarders who are quartered at the Burhan boarding house, opposite Barrytown, started across the river to hold a picnic along the cove north of Barrytown station, on the east shore of the Hudson. One boat load was landed safely on the track of the Hudson River Railroad. The other boat, in which were C. Van Herwerden and his 11-year-old son of Flushing, L. I., Mrs. Jansen, Miss Jansen, and Mrs. Andrews of Brooklyn, capsized. All the occupants were thrown into the water and carried by the strong tide into the cove. All were rescued except the boy, who sank before help could reach him. Search was made for the body, but at dusk it had not been found.

A Dove Perched Upon the Preacher's Head.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 7.—While the Rev. Mr. Clark of the East Haven Congregational Church was finishing the opening prayer on Sunday, a dove flew into the church and alighted on the centre gallery. When the pastor read from the first chapter of John the clause, "I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it abode upon him," the dove perched on the open Bible. At the close of the service, Mr. Clark said that this might be emblematical of the presence of the Divine Spirit. As he said this the bird alighted upon his head. The clergyman took the winged visitor down and held it against his breast. Many were moved to tears, and the whole congregation were visibly affected.

Seven Days of Horror.

READING, Pa., September 8.—While Clayton Klink, aged 19, a resident of Union township, Lebanon county, was hunting on the mountains, one day last week he fell into a deserted mine, 130 feet deep, horribly crushing both feet and sustaining other serious injuries. His friends scoured the mountains, but failed to find him until last night, when he was hoisted to the surface. He was still alive, but was unconscious and almost dead, having lain in torture at the bottom of the cold, damp mine with nothing to eat for seven days. If his life can be saved it is probable that both legs will have to be amputated.

Mifflin for Beaver for Governor.

LEWISTOWN, Sept. 7.—The Republican County Convention to-day nominated the following ticket. Director of the poor Joseph Winters; jury commissioner, Samuel Dell. The Convention passed a resolution endorsing the nomination of Matthew S. Quay for state treasurer. General John P. Taylor, of First Pennsylvania Cavalry fame, was chosen as Mifflin County's representative to the next Republican State Convention and unanimously instructed to vote for General James A. Beaver for governor as long as his name is before the Convention.

A Maiden Lady Murdered.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Miss Margaret Hoover, a maiden lady, was found murdered this morning in the parlor of her residence, at Kinderhook, Columbia county. Money was found on the floor and there were blood stains in four rooms. She had been cut in four places on the head with a dirk. The bureau drawers were rifled and three pocket books were found empty. The lady lived alone, and the murder is believed to have been committed on Saturday night. No clue to the murderer.

Health—Strength—Long Life

SECURED BY THE USE OF

Crosby's Vitalized Phos-phites;

Nature's own BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This preparation is one of the greatest triumphs of modern chemical science. It is at the same time a remedial agent, and a natural food. It restores exhausted and wasted functions of the brain and nerves, and its daily use, while in health will prevent such exhaustion and waste. This is the only preparation of Phosphorous that has received the approbation of the entire medical profession in this country and in Europe.

Over a MILLION PACKAGES have been prescribed by Physicians in the United States.

SETHP-SOH PHOS-PHITES

CROSBY'S Vitalized Phosphites

Is a phosphoid or nerve-giving principle extracted from the ox brain and and wheat germ! It does not contain any of the animal substance of the brain, but the phosphoric principles dissolved in boiling alcohol and filtered from the brain substance. It is passed through felt filters, carefully dried and mixed with a little oven-dried flour from the germ of the wheat. Ephraim Cutter, A. M., M. D., in his microscopic analysis, testifies that it contains none of the substance of the ox brain; the active phosphites only are present.

By a careful and elaborate chemical analysis made by Prof. Percy, it was proved to be composed of the vital and nerve-giving principles of animal and vegetable life. The brains of animals and of fish contain an oily, nitrogenous hypo-phosphite, which, when separated from the fleshy part of the brain, is found to be a nerve-sustaining principle of animal life. It is entirely different in its effects from any compound made by chemists in the laboratory; the VITALIZED PHOS-PHITE contains in the highest degree this life-sustaining power; it requires no preparation or change in the stomach, but is in condition to be immediately assimilated into the blood, and ready for appropriation by the brain and nerves; it is essentially a special Brain and Nerve Food. Nature, not art, has prepared it for immediate assimilation.

In many forms of disease the digestion is so imperfect that chemical compounds, or even food, is not digested well enough to be assimilated and changed into blood. This VITALIZED PHOS-PHITE needs no digestion, it is assimilated at once, because it is in the exact condition found in all nervous structure, and is deposited in the nerve structure in the same condition as it was taken from it.

WHY HAVE PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBED OVER HALF A MILLION PACKAGES OF VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES

And found this Brain and Nerve Food indispensible in the treatment of all diseases of debility, and in all mental or nervous disorders?

Because it is not a secret remedy; they know what they are prescribing; the formula is on every package. Because it is one of those perfect preparations that seldom disappoint them.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Feb. 16, 1882.

I have prescribed your VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES extensively for the past seven years. I have found it invaluable in the treatment of debility, in diseases of the nervous system, and as a Tonic where the vital forces were at a low ebb. E. W. FINCH, M. D.

LANDON B. EDWARDS, M. D., Editor of the Virginia Medical Monthly, says: "I have prescribed VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES in several instances, and have also induced friends to use it. Our successes will make us prescribe it frequently."

AM. METALINE CO., 204 Greene St., N. Y.

Some three years ago my friend DR. STEARNS, Superintendent of the Insane Asylum in Hartford, told me how highly he prized VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES, and advised me to use the remedy with my many friends suffering with overwork of the brain. Knowing that I was one of the "overworked," I made the first trial on myself. The change in my health within two months after taking it was so satisfactory that I continue its use from time to time whenever I need it. I have not had a severe headache since I began its use; it was my great trouble before. I have prescribed it for very many of my friends—young, middle-aged and old—and in every case with benefit. You have given me a Brain Food in the only condition in which it can be constantly taken without danger. Many medical men whom I have induced to use it on themselves now use it regularly in their practice. S. GWYNN, M. D.

GARRETTSVILLE, Ohio, June 28, 1882.

F. CROSBY Co.,

Gentlemen: Several years ago when suffering from congestion of the vessels at the base of the brain, resulting in terrible mental depression, Dr. Leonard Sanford, of the Yale Medical College, prescribed for me the VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES. The effect was excellent beyond all expectation; in two weeks I was a new man. Since my recovery I have recommended it to a number of my professional and other friends suffering from overwork, brain exhaustion, sleeplessness, spinal and nervous troubles and kindred complaints, and in many of these instances I have seen its good results. I have intended for some time to write to you in acknowledgement of the good effects, but I suppose you are overcrowded with letters of this sort.

R. A. TORREY, M. D.

TALLADEGA, Ala.

F. CROSBY Co.: I am wonderfully pleased with the effects of your VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES. It is the best remedy I have ever used for Nervous Debility. For the enclosed money, please send me more by this day's mail. PAUL GIST, M. D.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio.

F. CROSBY: I have prescribed over 700 bottles of your VITALIZED PHOS-PHITE, and know it to be of the greatest value in restoring lost energy, relieving debility, nervousness, and preventing consumption.

War on the Chinese.

RAWLINS, Wis., Sept 3.—The largest coal mines in the entire Union Pacific system are at Rock Springs, 120 miles west of here. The road has recently been importing large numbers of Chinese to fill the places of white men. Yesterday afternoon the entire force of white miners, numbering 150, organized, and armed with shotguns, marched to that portion of the town occupied by the Celestials, and after firing a volley into the air reloaded and ordered the "pigtails" to leave. The order was obeyed at once, the Chinamen fleeing to the hills like a drove of sheep, closely pursued by the miners.

Several volleys were fired at the fugitives with fatal effect. The Chinese quarters were then set on fire and thirty-nine houses owned by the railroad company were destroyed with their contents. The miners next visited the various mines in the camp, unearthed all the Chinamen at work therein and bade them flee for their lives. They fled.

Of some four hundred Chinamen who made Rock Springs their home the day before, not one remains. All are in the hills, heading for Green River, thirteen miles further west. Seven Chinamen were killed outright by the shots fired by the miners and many are wounded. It is said also that several sick and feeble people perished in the burning of Chinatown. The sheriff arrived from Green River by special train last evening with a posse of deputies, but they were too late to prevent the mob from carrying out its plans.

The miners quietly dispersed after making sure of the departure of the Chinese, and all is now quiet. The railroad officials appealed to Governor Warren for protection, and Assistant General Superintendent Dickenson and Superintendent Wurtell are en route for the scene of the trouble by a special train. Both of these men are popular with the miners, and will probably be able to quell any disturbance likely to arise now. The Chinese have now been run out of Rawlins, Carbon, Laramie and other points in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, W. T., Sept. 3.—Advices received here from Rock Springs this forenoon indicate a worse state of affairs than was reported. All Chinamen, over 500 in number, have been driven out of the town. Thus far fifteen dead Chinamen have been discovered and there are probably as many more dead bodies in the ruins. Fifty houses belonging to the railroad company and fifty more owned by Chinamen were burned. The Chinamen are yet in the hills west of the town. They are without food and are afraid to go to Green River city, about ten miles distant. No more disturbance is anticipated. Food will be sent by the authorities to the starving Chinamen in the hills.

After the Celestials.

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyoming, Sept. 4.—Yesterday, for the first time in many years, there was not a Chinaman in Rock Spring streets, except the dead and wounded. The five or six hundred who were at work in the mines here have been driven out, and nothing but heaps of smoking ruins mark the spot where Chinatown stood. The feeling against the Chinese has been growing stronger the entire summer. The fact that the white men had been turned off the sections, and hundreds of white men were seeking in vain for work, while the Chinese were being shipped in by the car-load and given work, strengthened the feeling against them.

It needed but little to execute this feeling into an active crusade against the Chinese, and precipitate the battle at No. 6 mine, about a mile north of town. Through some misunderstanding two Chinamen took a room in the mine belonging to two white men. When the white men came they ordered them out. They would not go, and a fight ensued; which was participated in by nearly all the white sand Chinamen were worsted in the fight and four of them were badly wounded, one of whom has since died. The white miners then came out, armed themselves with firearms, and notified the men in the other mines to come out in the afternoon.

Meantime all was excitement in Chinatown. The flag was hoisted as a warning, and the Chinese working in the different parts of the camp fled to their quarters. After dinner the saloons closed, and no liquor has been sold since then. The miners gathered on the front streets, about 100 of them armed with guns, revolvers, hatchets and knives, and proceeded to Chinatown. Before reaching there they sent a committee of three warning the Chinamen to leave in an hour. This they agreed to do, and started to pack up, but in about half an hour the white men grew impatient and advanced upon the Chinese headquarters, shouting and firing their guns into the air. Without offering resistance the Chinese fled, with whatever they could snatch up, to the hill about a mile east of the town, the miners firing at them as they went.

Death of a Murderer.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., September 2.—A man named John Custer, who died at Dayton, O., to day, formerly worked at Youngstown. While there he made a confession to a friend in which he said that his right name was John Goodwin, that he had killed a man named McName at Waltham, Mass., and changed his name to escape arrest. The confession was made under promise that it would not be divulged until his death.

Death of a Noted Divine.

IRVINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., died at his residence here at midnight last night, aged 85 years.

[Stephen Higginson Tyng was born in Newport, Mass., March 1, 1800, He was graduated at Harvard college in 1817, and for two years engaged in mercantile pursuits, then studied theology and was ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal church in 1821. For two years he preached in Georgetown, S. C., and for six years in Queen Anna's parish, Prince George county, Md. He became rector of St. Paul's parish, Philadelphia, in 1829, of the church of the Epiphany in 1833 and of St. George's church, New York, in 1848, which office he occupied until his advanced age compelled his retirement six or seven years since. He received a degree of D. D. from Harvard and from Jefferson college. For several years he edited the Episcopal Recorder and the Protestant Churchmen. He has published several works which have enjoyed a large sale, notable among them being "Lectures on the Law and Gospel," "Recollections of England," "Christ in All," which have passed into many editions, "The Captive Orphan," "The Feast Enjoyed" and "Forty Years' Experience in Sunday Schools."]

Nailers Assaulted by Masked Men

IRONTON O., Sept. 3.—Great excitement prevails here to-day. An organized mob, estimated at from fifty to one hundred men, supposed to be composed of striking mill men, went to the Bellefone mill, at the close of Foraker's speech last night, and capturing the guard, whom they disarmed, compelled him to go to the door of the wareroom, in the upstairs of which five Chattanooga "black-sheep" nailers were sleeping and ask them to come down.

The nailers, however, suspected trouble, and refused to open the door. A shot was fired, it is claimed from the outside, when the men from their inside barricade opened up a rapid firing from the heavy revolvers with which they were armed. Some fifteen shots were fired, and the windows were badly riddled, but fortunately no one was hurt, so far as known. The watchman claims that the men were masked and all armed. The probability is that most of the crowd came from Ashland, where the same trouble exists. The better class of nailers, heaters and rollers, who are on a strike, are not in sympathy with such methods and are loud in their denunciations of the raid.

The Grangers at Williams' Grove.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—The largest gathering ever at Williams' Grove assembled at the Grangers' picnic there to-day, the crowd being estimated at 45,000 people. Among the speakers were Mortimer Whitehead, of New Jersey, and S. J. Peele, of Raleigh, N. C. Resolutions were adopted in the presence of a large gathering demanding the equalization of taxes, censuring the legislature for refusing to pass anti-discrimination laws, opposing the proposed sale of the South Pennsylvania and the Beech Creek railroad and having an amendment to patent laws so that an infringer on the right of a patentee should alone be held responsible. Rev. James Calder, state lecturer of the grange, and Rev. S. D. Jackson spoke in the evening. To-day is editors' day. The picnic will close Friday evening.

Six Persons Drowned.

OSKOSH, Wis., Sept. 2.—A horrible drowning accident occurred at the St. Paul railroad bridge across the river here at 6 o'clock this morning. The draw being open, eleven persons—nine girls and two men—nearly all employes in the Diamond match works, attempted to cross the open channel in a boat. They were caught in the swells of a tug which had just previously passed through, and their boat was upset. Only five of them were rescued. The names of the drowned are: Johanna Watsclue, Gusta Weise, Emma Bauer, Lena Waldi, Louis Dicht, and Philip Berryman, aged from 12 to twenty years. The bodies have all been recovered.

Vanderbilt's Sale of Stock.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 1.—The Chronicle-Telegraph says this afternoon that it is reported that Mr. Vanderbilt has sold his Pittsburg, McKeesport and Youghiogheny Railroad stock and bonds to persons in the interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad, but retains for the present his interest in the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad Company. This contradicts the statement that the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Company had been sold out. It is intimated, however, that a traffic arrangement has been agreed upon between Mr. Vanderbilt and the Pennsylvania lines, and that hereafter they will work together harmoniously as to rates.

Austrian Wheat.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Wheat sales are made in Vienna at one-third per hundred weight less than New York prices. Even at this low price it is found impossible to effect sales of Austrian wheat in either France or Germany, because of the present high duties in these countries. In the face of these facts Austria has 12,000,000 hundred weight of wheat surplus to export this year, against 6,000,000, hundred weight last year. The Austrian rye crop is short, and the market will have to be supplied by imports.

$20,000,000 for Rivers and Harbors

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—General Newton, Chief of Engineers of the United States army, estimates that an appropriation of about $18,000,000 or $20,000,000 will be required to continue the work of river and harbor improvements during the next fiscal year.

For rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, cramp and colic there is no remedy superior to the genuine Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

Undertaker Merritt's Bill.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Undertaker Merritt said to-day that he did not give the public the items of his bill for attending the Grant funeral, because it would be unprofessional. He said that he would be glad otherwise to have the whole thing made public, because it would then be seen that the bill was reasonable. It was suggested that as the public was asked, through the War Department, to pay the bill, there could be no harm in telling the public what it would have to put up. "That seems reasonable," said he. "The exact figures are $14,179,75. That includes everything I did or furnished here and at Mt. McGregor, including the $5,000 for carriages. We did not charge a cent more than we would have charged anyone else."

President of Vassar.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Sept. 2.—Rev. Samuel W. Duncan, who has been elected to the Presidency of Vassar College, is spending his vacation in this city, where he was born in 1838. He was educated in the public schools of Haverhill, and was graduated from Brown University in 1860, and from the Rochester Theological Seminary in 1866. He was settled as pastor of the Baptist Society in Cleveland, O., in 1866, Cincinnati in 1875, and in Rochester, N. Y., his present pastorate, in 1883. He commanded Company F, 5th Massachusetts Regiment, during the war, leaving his literary work for that purpose.

Crushed by a Rock.

WILKESBARRE, Pa, Sept. 2.—A terrible accident occurred this morning at the Oakwood shaft, operated by the Lehigh Valley coal company. The cage on which nine miners were being lowered into the shaft had nearly reached the bottom when a mass of loose coal and rock fell from the side of the shaft down the pit, striking and completely demolishing the cage, instantly killing four of the men and wounding two others fatally, while the other three were seriously injured. The names of the killed are as follows: John Kearney and John Martin, of Parsons; and William J. Atkins, of Miner's Mill.

Vineland's Successful Fair.

VINELAND, N. J., Sept. 3.—The fair to-day was largely attended, the surrounding towns contributing an unusual number. Live stock, which yesterday was almost entirely unrepresented, to-day was entered in considerable numbers. Quite a number of fine milch cows, mostly of the Alderney breed, are on exhibition, and there are a few head of horses and colts. A larger number of premiums have been awarded than ever before, and the fair as a whole may be considered one of the most successful and satisfactory ever held here.

A Wonderful New Star.

PHELPS, Sept. 3.—Prof Brooks of the Red House Observatory secured observations of the wonderful new star in the great nebula of Andromeda last night and this morning. A marked increase of light was discovered between the observations. The star is now of the sixth magnitude, and easily visible to the naked eye. A small telescope, or opera glass shows, it well. Prof. Brooks believes it may yet attain great brilliancy, and regards it as one of the most remarkable phenomena in the annals of astronomy.

Out of the Synagogue.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—The Board of Trustees of the German synagogue to-day passed resolutions condemning the action of Mr. Solomon Goldstein, the author of Sunday's row in the synagogue. He was ordered to be expelled from the church and debarred of all its privileges. Mr. Abraham Jacobs, the injured man, has begun civil and criminal actions against Goldstein, and refuses to settle in any way. A number of the members threatened to leave the church unless Goldstein was expelled.

A Very Big Contract.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 1.—A Pittsburg manufacturer has just signed a contract for building three furnaces for the Troy (N. Y.) Steel and Iron Company at a cost of over $700,000, the work to be finished December 31, 1886. There will be used in the construction of the new plant 3350 tons of castings, wrought and plate iron; 3,500,000 firebricks and 3,500,000 red bricks. All the iron used in construction of the buildings and all the machinery will be made at New Castle.

The Cornerstone of a Capitol.

ATLANTA, Ga., September 2.—The cornerstone of the new Georgia capitol was laid to-day with imposing ceremonies. The ceremonies were conducted by John S. Davidson, of Augusta, grand master of the grand lodge of Masons. The procession was a half mile long and twelve hundred Masons were in it. Music was furnished by a chorus of one hundred trained voices. Thousands of people were in the city to witness the ceremonies.

A Dangerous Fisher Maiden.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 2.—As Fish Warden Ludwig, of this city, appointed by the Fish Commission to police the Susquehanna, was tearing up fish pots from the stream opposite Turkey Hill, below Columbia, a little girl appeared on the bank of the river with a double-barrelled gun and shot at, but missed him. All along the river he was threatened by infuriated fishermen whose fish baskets he destroyed.

A Fashionable Wedding at Erie.

ERIE, Sept. 3.—The marriage of George Metcalf, son of Prescott Metcalf, a wealthy banker and business man, to Miss Mary Richards, daughter of Captain J. S. Richards, was celebrated this evening in the presence of the wealth and fashion of Erie and the neighboring cities. The presents amounted in value to more than $40,000, the principal one being that of Congressman Scott, partner of the bride's father. The groom is one of Erie's first young business men.

Frost in Wisconsin—The Crops.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 2.—Reports from the interior of the State indicate a slight frost at several points. At La Cross a frost was reported also in the Cranberry region, along the valley division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. No serious damage resulted, however, in the tobacco region. Near Madison a slight frost occurred but without damage to crops. The crop is two-thirds harvested, and in good condition. There has been but slight injury done by grasshoppers.

CHICAGO Sept. 2.—Specials report frosts last night at various places in this vicinity.

Out of Sorts.

Many persons complain of not feeling well; and, though not absolutely sick or in pain, are perpetually in a state of discomfort caused by the digestive organs not properly performing their work. To correct the disordered condition of the stomach and restore health, take a half-tablespoonful of Simmons Liver Regulator after each meal. Try this purely vegetable cathartic, tonic and alterative and it will convince you that no one can take it and remain long unwell.

In a suburban village a lady whose house is surrounded by ample grounds has a little boy who is addicted to visiting the neighbors without permission. Finding other deterrent methods fruitless, the mother thought she would shame the child into obedience by tying him to a tree in the front yard. A lady, passing while he was thus confined, asked: "Why, Bobby, what are you tied up in that way for?" "Oh," answered the boy, seeming to enjoy the situation immensely, "mamma and I are playing cow. You know we have to tie cows when we let them out to grass."

How young old people look who have never been seriously sick, and who never worry and fret. How old young people look who fret and stew and suffer pain—all at once. But we can't altogether help our disposition, and we will sometimes get out of sorts in spite of all our caution. Then we need the best, the simplest and safest medicine known, which is Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Purifies the blood and renews vitality in old and young.

More aggressive than usual: Agnes—Mamma told you that you were not to go to Bessy's house. Sally—I know she did, but I couldn't help it. Agnes—Couldn't held it—why? Sally—Because—because—Satan tempted me. Agnes—Then you should have put Satan behind you. Sally—I did—but—he pushed me.

Speer's Wine for Consumptives.

Consumptive persons are greatly benefitted by the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine. It gives nourishment when everything else fails, and physicians prescribe it as a rich, nutritious wine. Prominent physicians and members connected with the New York Board of Health have inspected Speer's vineyards and wine cellars and speak of his products in the highest terms. For sale by druggists.

A Brooklyn horse was discovered recently with one of his hind feet firmly jammed in his mouth. He was probably trying to pull off a tight shoe to ease his corns.

DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, the celebrated Temperance Restorative, that tones without exciting and regulates without pain, is the only true and absolute remedy, for biliousness, colic, indigestion, nervousness, sick-headache, flatulency, liver complaint, rheumatism, and all ailments arising from corruption or impoverishment of the blood.

His Slippery Glass Eye.

"The Squire," says the author of the "Hoosier Schoolmaster," "wore one glass eye and a wig. The glass eye was constantly slipping out of focus, and the wig turning around sidewise on his head whenever he addressed the people of the Flat Creek District." Sad spectacle. Parker's Hair Balsam preserves and promotes the growth of the natural hair. It also restores the natural color to hair which has faded or become gray. Clean, elegant, beneficial, highly perfumed.

Erysipelas and Salt Rheum was driven entirely away from Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Peshtigo, Wis., by Burdock Blood Bitters. No equal as a blood purifier.

Liver, Kidney or Stomach Troubles.—Symptoms: Impure blood, costive bowels, irregular appetite, sour belching, pains in side, back and heart, yellow urine, burning when urinating, clay-colored stools, bad breath, no desire for work, chills, fevers, irritability, whitish tongue, dry cough, dizzy head, with dull pain in back part, loss of memory, foggy sight. For these troubles "SWAYNE'S PILLS" are a sure cure. Box (30 pills), by mail, 25 cts., 5 for $1. Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Consumption.—All Throat, Breast, and Lung Affections cured by the old-established "SWAYNE'S WILD-CHERRY." The first dose gives relief, and a cure speedily follows. 25 cts., or $1.00, at Druggists.

London Hair Restorer—Great English Toilet Article. Restores growth, color, gloss, and softness. Removes Dandruff. Aristocratic families of Great Britain endorse it. Elegant dressing. Fragrantly perfumed. The favorite of fashion. At Druggists for 3s 1½d, or 75 cts. in U. S. money.

—Don't drown your oyster in vinegar,
Or season him at all;
Don't cover up his shining form
With pepper like a pall;
But gently lift him from his shell
And firmly hold your breath,
Then, with your eager tongue and teeth
Just tickle him to death.

—D. F. Fortney's address of welcome on the occasion of the Veteran's picnic, Saturday, the 12th, will doubtless be a fine effort and the committee of arrangements has shown excellent judgment in selecting him.

—Major Wm. F. Reynolds has received a letter from Rev. Jno. R. R. Robinson, the new rector of St. John's P. E. church, stating that he will be in Bellefonte on Friday, the 18th of September, and will begin his pastoral duties here on Sunday, the 20th.

—An old lady named Scroggins, who lives at Brown's Bridge, Forsyth county, Ga., is 104 years old. She has belonged to the Methodist church ninety-four years, having joined at the age of ten. She recently gave her testimony in public with clearness and force.

—Weddings are now of almost daily occurrence. On Wednesday evening Mr. Elmer Garman was married to Miss Annie Packer, the event occurring in the parlor of Mr. J. C. Harper's residence. Rev. Mr. Laurie officiated. The happy couple departed on the 8.45 train for a brief wedding journey.

—The miners and laborers at the Rochester and Falls Creek mines, in Dubois, were notified Monday morning that on September 7 a reduction in their wages of 12½ per cent. would take place. The men are mining coal at present for forty cents per ton, and this reduction will make it thirty-five cents.

—Some genius has discovered that the cheapest and simplest gymnasium in the world—one that will exercise every bone and muscle in the body—is a piece of flat steel, notched on one side, fitted tightly into a wooden frame, which, after being greased on both sides with a bacon rind, is rubbed into a stick of wood laid lengthwise on a sawbuck.

—Mr. Chas. Heisler has a curiosity in the shape of a bottle within which is a wooden cross, the ladder, spikes and numerous other instruments intended to represent those used at the crucifixion of our Saviour. It is puzzling to know just how the articles were placed in the bottle, as the cross is certainly too large to have passed through the neck. The bottle with its contents was brought to him from England by Robert Tate.

The State Convention of the Y. M. C. A.

The eighteenth annual State convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Pennsylvania will be held in the city of Reading, Sept. 24th to 27th, inclusive. Secretary Schaeffer, of the Bellefonte Association, has received from State Secretary Taggart circulars giving information in regard to it, and urging that the Association here be represented by 5 or 6 delegates. We copy some of the more important items of information.

Excursion rates have been granted over the Pennsylvania Central and branches, Northern Central and branches, Philadelphia & Erie and branches, and Philadelphia & Reading and branches. The names of delegates must be sent to W. A. Bowen, Asst. State Sec., Reading, who will send orders for tickets. In order that this may be done promptly members who are willing to act as delegates should inform Secretary Schaeffer at once.

Among those who will be present from a distance are Prof. M. H. Richards, of Muhlenburg College, Allentown, and Rev. Geo. B. Stewart, of Harrisburg. Papers will be read and addresses delivered on such topics as "The religious work for young men," "The financial management," "Social agencies," "Educational features," "Physical exercise and recreation," "The religious life and activity of boys," "The securing of buildings and building funds," "The employment of General Secretaries," etc.

From Other Counties.

A Lewistown man while digging out an old cellar the other day unearthed an old English eleven penny piece dated 1616.

The body of Charles M. Calvert, a citizen of Williamsport, was found in the canal at that place on Tuesday evening, September 1. It is supposed that he fell into the canal while suffering from an epileptic attack.

Professor Charles Lose, of Muncy, has been appointed county superintendent of Lycoming county to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles S. Riddell, late superintendent. He is said to be well qualified.

Some sacrilegious scalawag attempted to burn the new Independent church building near Milroy, on Saturday night, August 29. The fire was well started but it went out. The man who unearths the incendiary will be $100 richer.

Mr. George J. Akers, city editor of the Johnstown Tribune, and Miss Mary McDermott, of Johnstown, were married on Tuesday evening the 1st, in St. John's church, that place. We extend our congratulations and trust that nothing but good fortune will attend the newly wedded couple.

—Mr. Aaron Goldsmith, of the Bee Hive stores, has an injured foot. We inquired of him the cause of it and he gave us two answers, first saying that it was an attack of rheumatism and afterwards attributing it to gout in consequence of living so high—on the fourth story. In order to learn the facts, we asked his confidential friend, Mr. Bond Valentine, who informed us that Aaron's great toe had been dislocated while bathing in the surf at Atlantic City. It appears that Mr. Goldsmith and a companion had gone further out than they intended and in the struggle to return to shore Aaron's foot came in contact with something hard with the result described. Two surgeons who are used to such accidents soon put the dislocated toe in position again, and doubtless he will quickly recover from his lameness.

A Grand Concert.

There has been a great dearth of entertainments of late in Bellefonte, and people are sighing for them. The W. C. T. U., in connection with the Bellefonte Orchestra and other musicians in the town, will supply the long-felt want by giving a concert very soon. It will occur within the next ten days, although the exact date and place have not yet been decided on. The Bellefonte Orchestra has been practicing during the past two years and in that time the Bellefonte public has heard very little of it. All lovers of music will be glad to listen to the delightful strains once again. The best musical talent in the town will assist in vocal and instrumental selections. Look out for announcement of date and place.

—The International Business College, of Altoona, is a new school, but it is one of the most vigorous and promising of its kind that we know of. The annual catalogue which has been issued gives many pages of information in regard to it and we suppose it can be secured by addressing W. P. Gregory, Principal International Business College, Eleventh Ave., cor. 16th St., Altoona, Pa. We notice that Gen. James A. Beaver is mentioned for reference in support of the excellence of the college.

Select Her at Once.

The following letter will explain itself:

LOCK HAVEN, Sept. 3, 1885.

MR. EDITOR: You ar the pur man's frend. I want to marry before I must pa 50 cents. But I have no girl. What shall I do? Yours, FELIX.

We are unable to give our correspondent any information that will relieve his difficulties. There are plenty of marriageable young ladies in this place, but we don't believe any one of them will wed such a very parsimonious young man as Felix seems to be. But we believe he can find one in his own city, and that, too, before the first of October. The only advice we can give him is to select one of the Lock Haven lassies at once and be, as his name implies, truly happy.

ANOTHER QUESTION.

EDITOR DAILY NEWS: I was asked whether it was in good taste, in issuing invitations to a wedding, for the intended groom to have the matter in charge. I answered that in my opinion, under all circumstances, it is a privilege that only belongs to the parents of the intended bride. Am I correct? *

Well, really, our editor on etiquette is just now taking his vacation, but we will allow anyone who thinks he knows all about such affairs to give us an essay on the subject.

Neighborhood News.

One of the attractions of Monroe township, Juniata county is a willow tree eighteen feet in circumference.

The 7 year old son of H. W. Garth, of Mill Hall, on Thursday fell into the mill race there and was drowned before his absence was discovered.

John DuBois, of Clearfield county, has this season cut and stored away in eight barns 402 tons of hay. His wheat crop amounts to over 1,300 bushels.

Harry Johnston, of Huntingdon, aged 20, was thrown from a moving freight train on which he was stealing a ride, at Mt. Union, Thursday evening. Fortunately he did not fall under the wheels, but was dragged quite a distance and terribly bruised from head to foot. No limbs were broken.

The barn of W. J. Harter, in Greenwood township, Perry county, was destroyed by fire some nights ago with the season's crops, farm implements, etc., the loss amounting to $2,600, covered by insurance. This is the third barn Mr. Harter has lost by fire during the last eight years.

A Very Welcome "Hitch."

A dispatch says: "A prominent railroad man said yesterday that the real hitch in the settlement between President Roberts and Vanderbilt in the case of the South Pennsylvania and Beech Creek railroad lies in the fact of a positive demand upon the part of Vanderbilt that the Pennsylvania railroad shall take from off his hands some forty thousand acres of coal land. This land was purchased by Vanderbilt at the time he acquired the Beech Creek property. It turned out to be a poor purchase. The seam of coal running through it was not rich enough to pay for working. To save himself from loss Vanderbilt is insisting upon the Pennsylvania people taking this property at its cost to him. Railroad people think that if Vanderbilt and Roberts do not get together in some way their failure to agree will result in another ruinous rate war."

Gen. Beaver in Huntingdon.

From the Huntingdon Globe we extract the following:

General James A. Beaver, of Bellefonte, was in town on Tuesday, and while in our midst was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. William P. Orbison, whom he visits for a day or two every year. No political significance was attached to his presence here by anybody, but a number of his most ardent friends gathered around him and the subject of politics was in directly broached in general conversation. The General is a warm personal friend of Colonel Quay's, and believes he will be elected by a good old fashioned majority. He is enjoying excellent health, as his clear, bright eyes and florid complexion attest. He was warmly greeted by everybody.

—The Lutheran church social met at Mr. L. A. Scheaffer's house on Thursday evening, spending the time very enjoyably. The house was thronged to its full capacity. The ice cream and cake disappeared rapidly and the treasury was well replenished. The next meeting will be at the residence of Mr. Samuel Markle, on the first Thursday evening in October.

—The Tyrone correspondent of the Altoona Tribune rises to remark: "That noble hearted and generous gentleman, Col. Teller, of the Bush House, Bellefonte, passed through here yesterday morning with his family, on their way to Cresson, to spend the day. No one who has ever stopped at the Bush House, under Col. Teller's management, ever had cause to regret it."

A Storm at Sea.

Some Centre county people have recently encountered quite a severe storm at sea. On the vessel which left Baltimore less than two weeks ago for Savannah were several persons from this county, among them Mr. Samuel Myers and his son, Oscar Myers, and Mr. John Neff, all of Milesburg. The two first mentioned are mill wrights and the last a carpenter, and they were going to Orange Co., Fla., to engage in business. When about forty miles this side of Savannah they encountered a fearful storm and the waves almost submerged the vessel. Water got into the hold of the vessel and it was necessary to throw overboard every vestige of cargo and baggage including even the tools and clothing of our friends above mentioned. They were glad to reach port alive with only a few articles of clothing. A letter has been received from Mr. Neff relating that all who were on board—with one exception—are now alive and well. The exception was one of the mates who was washed overboard and drowned.

Is it not Cruelty to Animals?

People who bring chickens to town for sale are accustomed to tie their legs very tight—so tight, indeed, as to constitute it a species of outright cruelty. It is unnecessary to do so as the fowls can be secured without it, either not tying the strings so tight, or confine them in small chicken coops. Sometimes the chickens, when thus fastened, do not get over the effects of it for weeks, and there are instances when the injury thus inflicted has been permanent.

In the Bellefonte markets chickens have been purchased with the string so tightly bound around their legs as to render it almost impossible to remove it without cutting the skin of the leg. It has been known to even break the leg of the chicken. A gentleman who knows what he is talking about says that this is cruelty to animals, and persons who do so can be punished. We hope the custom will be discontinued before the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals puts in appearance.

—Hon. L. A. Mackey, one of the vice presidents of the State Agricultural Society, has placed us under obligations to him for a catalogue for 1885 of the premiums offered to exhibitors at the next State fair, beginning the 23d instant and continuing until October 14. These premiums aggregate $41,000 and are offered in very handsome sums for exhibits of almost anything that can be raised in the farm and garden, productions of the dairy, live stock of all kinds, agricultural implements, machinery, metals, and even for the best essays written on agricultural operations and for appliances that relate to home culture and social improvement. He will doubtless send a copy of this handsome catalogue to others who will apply, which should be done soon, as entry books close on the 16th inst. As Centre county can't afford a county fair, why cannot exhibits be sent to the State fair?

—From the Millheim Journal: Again we are called upon to record the death of a well-known person, which occurred on Wednesday night under startling circumstances. This time the subject of our notice is Miss Christina Bracht, of Gregg township, residing with John Heckman about five miles southwest of town. She went to a neighbor's on Wednesday afternoon with a basket to fetch corn. After a half hour absence she was found lying on the road, dead. It is supposed that a stroke of palsy was the cause of her unexpected death. The funeral took place on Saturday forenoon when her remains were interred in the Reformed cemetery at Aaronsburg."

—On Tuesday morning while all the members of her family were in Chambersburg attending a wedding, Miss Sarah Immel, residing in Greenvillage, Franklin county, hanged herself by attaching a rope to a garret rafter and kicking a chair from under her. Miss Immel was wealthy and belonged to one of the best families in the county. She was an aunt of the groom. No cause is assigned for the suicide other than melancholy.

—The Relief Corps of Milesburg visited the home of Mr. James McMullen at Milesburg on Wednesday evening, Sept. 2, the purpose being to surprise Mrs. McMullen and to spend the evening socially. It was the anniversary of Mrs. McMullen's birthday. The event was very successful and the evening was passed very pleasantly to all who were there.

—Sweet cider will soon be a popular beverage.—Ex. We sigh-ter hear it.—Renovo News. Don't you sigh-ter drink it, too?

—"I scream in favor of oysters!" said a young lady member of a debating club, last night.

The Mite Society Supper.

The members of the Presbyterian Mite Society have determined to give a supper on only one night of this week and to make it a great occasion. Thursday evening has been appointed as the time. It will be given in the chapel. The ladies have already decided on the bill-of-fare, which will include chicken, fried and barbecued, bread and warm rusk, hard biscuit, boiled corn on the ear, corn pudding, sliced tomatoes with Mayonaise dressing, cole slaw, cold ham, pickles, tea and coffee. Ice cream and cake will be served extra. Save your small and large change for the great occasion.

—"Jason's Jottings" in the Altoona Tribune, last Friday, contain the following: "The Rev. Henry Wilson, deceased, brother of Rev. J. L. Wilson, pastor of Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, Altoona, made a hit when stationed at Philipsburg (then a circuit) by introducing "personals" in prayers. Here is a sample: "Lord have mercy on Jacob Kepler, who keeps tavern on the corner. Either lay him on a bed of sickness, or have him moved out of town."

—Mr. J. F. Ebbs, a farmer residing fn Half Moon Valley, has shown us a curiosity which we regard as a singular freak of nature. It is an ear of corn mixed with oats, about one-third of the grains being oats. We are prepared to hear the scientific agriculturists of the country denounce this item as a champion lie; but all the same, we have a piece of the corn-oats ear in the Herald office, and can therefore back up our statement with ocular proof.—Tyrone Herald.

—We are informed that Rev. Chas T. Steck gave a Shakespearean reading at the home of Mr. C. T. Gerberich one evening this week. An invited audience was present. The reverend gentleman's reading is spoken of in terms of high praise. As we heard him read from Shakespear once we can testify to his superiority; indeed, his interpretation of this great author's characters is the finest we have ever heard.

—Since the publication of an item in the Daily News about a man who eat 25 saucers of ice cream and an equal number of slices of cake at one sitting, the neighboring exchanges have been hunting up the big eaters in their sections. A Jersey Shore man has been found who can eat 15 ears of corn at one sitting while a Boalsburg man can eat 18.

—Important alterations and improvements are in progress in Sechler's store. The office is to be located between the grocery department and the meat market. The counter in the grocery is to be moved to the opposite side of the room and several other changes made which will contribute to the convenience of the establishment.

—We notice that many of our exchanges are announcing that Mr. Geo. Bible was married to Miss Mary Bradley. This is a mistake. Miss Sallie was the bride and Miss Mary the bridesmaid. Miss Mary is a very attractive young lady and is still, so far as we are aware, "heart whole and fancy free."

—The public schools of this place will not open until Wednesday, Sept. 16, instead of Wednesday, the 9th, as heretofore announced. This delay is because of the fact that the new tar pavement, which is now being made, will not be hard enough until that time. D. M. LIEB, Principal.

—Curtin McClain, now in the Lewistown jail awaiting execution, thwarted the attempt to escape of a horse thief named William Brindle by notifying the sheriff. If McClain had been half as decent a fellow before the murder of Smearman his neck would never have been in danger.

—The Fourth district Miners and Laborers' convention of the Amalgamated association met at DuBois on Tuesday, the 1st, re-elected Jno. Britt president and passed resolutions demanding the enforcement of the eight hour law and reform in the management of company stores.

—This is the time of year when it is difficult to regulate clothing. A person may start out in the morning with clothing suitable for freezing weather and by the hour of noon a high temperature may prevail.

"I never patronize Patent Medicines." Don't you? Why not? You patronize "patent" articles of a hundred varieties—why not patent medicines. "Because they are often worthless." True, but not always. Frequently they are the very best in the world, representing the widest experience. At least we know that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is one of these, and for all troubles of the blood, liver and urinary organs it stands on its merits, and not on advertising.

—"How greedy you are," said a little girl at breakfast this morning to another who had taken the finest apple in the dish, "I was going to take that myself."

$500,000 a Year.

Statement of the American, National and United States and Canada Express Companies, Troy, N. Y.

The strength of Rome lay not in her multitude, nor in her grain-laden fleets. These were elements of strength, but her never-failing resources lay in the self-control and discipline of Roman soldiers. Discipline—it is the very soul to all the wonderful meaning possessed by the word "veteran." Mr. Benedict, of Troy is a veteran in the express business. "Thirty three years," he said to your reporter "I've stood at this desk." It is the discipline of years of experience which gives him the position he holds in the trust and esteem of these three great corporations. "We have a business of $500,000 a year, and I've been absent from this office hardly a month in all that time, although I must confess that many times I've worked here when suffering great pain, for I have been troubled all my life with biliousness and dyspepsia. My system had become so reduced and weak that I had no appetite, and my digestion wholly disordered. I've tried various remedies, but almost two years ago I happened to hit upon Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. After using only one bottle or so I began to feel stronger in every way. The great difficulty has been with my digestion, but this seems to regulate it perfectly. I have, sir, great faith in Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. I have bought and given a great deal of it to the poor around here; those, you know, who have no money to buy medicine of any kind, for there are a great many troubled with bilious diseases and suffer on without aid. I always keep FAVORITE REMEDY in the house. I consider it the best medicine for the blood in the market. Well, I must attend to this matter for the western part of the city. Say, you tell the Doctor I am coming down to Rondout to see him in August. I want to know him." I left the veteran, still at his post, rejoicing in health and grateful to Dr. Kennedy. 17 36 1y

Spring Without Blossoms.

Late in Life to Look for Joy—Yet Never too Late to Mend.

Readers of Hawthorne's "House of Seven Gables" will recall the pathos with which poor Clifford Pyncheon, who had been unjustly imprisoned since his early manhood, said, after his release: "My life is gone, and where is my happiness? Oh! give me my happiness," but that could be done only in part, as gleams of warm sunshine occasionally fall across the gloom of a New England autumn day.

In a letter to Messrs. Hiscox & Co., Mr. L. H. Titus, of Pennington, N. J., says: "I have suffered untold misery from childhood from chronic disease of the bowels and diarrhœa, accompanied by great pain. I sought relief at the hands of physicians of every school and used every patent and domestic remedy under the sun. I have at last found in PARKER'S TONIC a complete specific, preventive and cure. As your invaluable medicine, which did for me what nothing else could do, is entitled to the credit of my getting back my happy days, I cheerfully and gratefully acknowledge the fact."

Mr. E. S. Wells, who needs no introduction to the people of Jersey City, adds: "The testimonial of Mr. Titus is genuine and voluntary; only he does not adequately portray the suffering he has endured for many years. He is my brother-in-law, and I know the case well. He is now perfectly free from his old troubles, and enjoys health and life, ascribing it all to PARKER'S TONIC."

Unequaled as an invigorant; stimulates all the organs; cures ailments of the liver, kidneys, and all diseases of the blood. 17 34 4t

Local Department.

—He puts away his lines and hooks,
For closed to him are pond and pool;
With heavy heart he takes his books
And snail-like creeps to school.

The captain of the "Champions'" club
Has fallen from his high estate,
And—just like any other bub—
Is whipped when he is late.
—Boston Courier.

—Weddings are numerous.

—New moon on Tuesday afternoon.

—Hurry up your new postal cards.

—Bellefonte has unusually excellent hotels.

—The High school began the Fall session Tuesday.

—Now come the melancholy days—the gloomiest of the year.

—The Pennsylvania Miller's State Association will meet in Bethlehem on the 2d Tuesday of October.

—Mr. Thos. P. Love, of Huntingdon, has a raspberry bush in his garden that has borne fruit four times this season.

—The Bellefonte Academy began its Fall session on Monday with a large attendance and favorable promise of a successful school year.

—The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gephart died Monday morning, after a long illness. We sympathise with the afflicted parents.

—Miss Effie Straub has been reporting the proceedings of the Lutheran Synod in Altoona for the Times of that city and has done her work very creditably.

—A brilliant electric light has been placed in front of Mr. Frank Montgomery's residence on Lamb St. It renders the residence very attractive in the evening.

—An infant child of Mr. James Ginter died last Saturday night and was buried Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Friends' burial ground. The little one was about five months old.

—Abram Newman, proprietor of a clothing store in Williamsport, committed suicide by hanging, on Sunday night or Monday morning. Unreasonable jealousy of his wife is assigned as the cause.

—An infant daughter arrived at the home of Mr. Isaac Lose, Jr., on Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Lose have our congratulations on the event and best wishes for themselves and the youthful Miss L.

—The handsome crane which Mr. John Wagner captured a few weeks ago, has been mounted by Mr. Elden, of Williamsport, and is now looking as large as life and twice as natural in the Centre County Bank.

—The new frame dwelling house being erected by Mr. A. J. Cruse, on East Linn St., is looming up quite conspicuously. The location is so elevated as to render it higher than most of the houses near by.

—Superintendent Blair's private car passed through Bellefonte Tuesday morning on the way to Lemont. Some of the younger members of his family occupied the car and they were on their way to school at State College

—Mr. J. H. Sands has purchased two desirable building lots on East Curtin St., of Mr. F. X. Lehman. He will probably erect a handsome dwelling house thereon. He is already making preparations to build a stable

—The Zion band was to have gone to Spring Mills to a picnic on Saturday afternoon, but the rain preventing that, it came to Bellefonte, the sweetness of the music discoursed by it attracting the attention of all. The band is ordering new uniforms of blue cloth.

—Mr. A. Sternburg was at work three days of last week packing and addressing public documents, which he is sending large numbers of to people throughout this congressional district. They include reports of all the departments. The books are really valuable and some of them are gotten up in very expensive style.

—Of course, everybody is anxious to learn the place and date of the Orchestra concert, and we can inform them in regard to the place. It will be given in Humes' Hall some time during next week, the exact date hereafter to be announced. The tickets will be 50 cents for adults and 25 for children. It will be the musical event of the season.

—Dr. Newman says that of all the letters received by Gen. Grant from good people who were solicitous about his spiritual welfare, the one that touched him most was written by an aged Quaker and ran as follows: "Friend Grant—I am a stranger to thee. I would not intrude upon thy suffering, but I am anxious for thy soul. Trust in Jesus, He will not fail thee."

Thoughts Left Over from Sunday.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon was the largest for many months, an audience of nearly 200 people filling the hall to its greatest capacity. Mr. J. C. Weaver conducted a service on the theme "The Cross" in an interesting manner. Mr. Geo. W. Pooler presided at the piano very efficiently.

In the Lutheran church there were large congregations at both morning and evening services. Rev. Mr. Steck's morning discourse on the "Nature and Office of Prayer" is spoken of as one of the best he has delivered. The text was, "Continuing instant in Prayer," Romans 12:12. In the evening he preached from II. Corinthians 5:17, "For the love of Christ constraineth us."

In the Presbyterian church in the morning Rev. Wm. Laurie discoursed from the 2d, 3d and 4th verses of 8th chap. of Deut., which remind the children of Israel of the way in which the Lord led them through the wilderness. He dwelt in a pleasing manner on the way in which the Lord is willing to lead each one in paths, not such as they picture to themselves, but nevertheless in ways that will satisfy them. His evening sermon was from Romans 6:8.

Rev. M. K. Foster, in the M. E. church, on Sunday morning, preached from Luke 11:9—"And I say unto you, ask and it shall be given you." It was listened to with deep attention and was a truly admirable sermon. The evening discourse was from 1st Peter 2:9: But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people." After speaking of the peculiarity of life and religious worship which distinguished the ancient Israelites, he said that Christians are necessarily peculiar, and have no reason to be ashamed of their peculiarities. The point of his discourse which we liked best was the declaration that that these peculiarities of Christians should not be modified and toned down to conform to the world, and that it will be a sorry day for Christianity when a Christian cannot be distinguished from one who is not a Christian.

Visit of Prominent Railroad Officials.

The visit of a large number of the highest railroad officials in the State to this place on Tuesday afternoon was a surprise to almost everybody as their arrival was unannounced. The party started from Philadelphia on Tuesday morning and came over the new road, inspecting it carefully and finding it satisfactory. The members of this party were President Geo. B. Roberts; General Manager Chas. E. Pugh; Gen. Supt. Robert Neilson, of the Phila and Erie and Northern Central; Supt. Eastern Division E. B. Westfall; General Supt. Penna R. R. Robert E. Pettett; Asst. Chief Engineer J. T. Richards; Supt. Tyrone Division S. S. Blair; President B. E. V. R. R. L. A. Mackey; Engineer P. J. White; Asst Engineer C. J. Bechdolt; Edmund Blanchard, Esq., and a large number of assistants and and chief clerks.

The distinguished party would have been pleased to remain in Bellefonte a longer time, but could not do so. The object of the trip was especially to inspect the road, but more important results will be effected. The question of the superintendency of the Lemont and Spring Mills branch will be settled. Indeed the question is now determined and a public announcement will probably be made next Monday, together with a schedule.

From what we have heard of the results of the trip we are pleased to be able to state that they are extremely favorable to Bellefonte, and are such as will certainly please every citizen.

State Sunday School Convention.

The State Sunday School Convention of Pennsylvania is to meet at Sunbury, commencing Tuesday, October 20, and continuing through Wednesday and Thursday. An attractive programme is being arranged. Eminent Sunday school workers will take part in the proceedings, and a feast of good things may be expected. Each county is entitled to ten delegates, and cities of twenty thousand population to three additional delegates. Arrangements have been made for a reduction of fare over all railroads centering in Sunbury, to all persons attending the convention. For particulars regarding railroads, address Mr. Jacob Shipman, Sunbury. Pennsylvania now ranks a Banner State, all the counties being organized auxiliary to the State and International work. A large delegation may be expected, and the approaching convention will doubtless be of rare interest. Delegates are requested to address Mr. G. W. Deppen, Sunbury, in regard to entertainment, prior to October 10.

—Lawn tennis does not look like an interesting game, but perhaps it is.

Autumn Styles.

The REPUBLICAN has added to its editorial force a fashion writer of experience and taste.

He will furnish a few items to-day, for which he will charge $100 per line, and then he will rest for a month.

He believes that the readers will enjoy the "rest" as much as he will.

While in Paris on Monday he learned that sleeveless dresses will not be worn on the street this season, but will be confined to ladies in the ball room.

Gossamers and umbrellas will be de rigeur during rain storms. When sleet and snow prevail overcoats and overshoes will suddenly become popular.

Ladies' fur collars come high this season; indeed, next to the hat or bonnet, they will be the highest part of the wearing apparel, being worn around the neck.

An effort was made last week to banish the white dress for a period lasting until Memorial Day, 1886, but it proved unsuccessful, and Flora McFlimsey vowed she would wear her's every pleasant day until October 1.

A new and very beautiful style of dress goods which is bound to become popular for evening walking costumes is called "crushed starlight." A very expensive new fabric for carriage dresses is known as "I've eloped with the coachman."

There may be some new and novel wrinkles in skating rink costumes, but as a rule the skating rink professor will not be as fascinating as he was last season.

Plums.

This is one of the greatest plum years that we have ever known. In comparison with recent previous years, the quantity of plums with which the trees of that sort are laden is quite astonishing. That great enemy of the plum, the curculio, must have remained in its hole, or perhaps perished with the cold last winter, and did not come forth to attack the fruit this year. Plums are what may be called a drug on the market. They are brought to town in endless quantity and are quite excellent. They are red, blue, yellow and green. But just like everything else, when they are plenty people care but little for them. At the present time the nicely preserved plum may occupy a place on the table, and people will pass it by and take any other sort of fruit obtainable; whereas, if scarce, they would be favorite fruit to crown the festal board.

—Miss Butler, of Philadelphia, who has been visiting at the home of Clement Dale, Esq., departed this morning. She has been here several weeks and in that time has visited nearly all the places of interest in this vicinity. She pronounces the scenery as fine as any she has ever beheld, and as she has traveled quite extensively in the most beautiful portions of America, including California and the Pacific coast, her opinion is certainly valuable. Particularly was she pleased with the scenery between Bellefonte and Snow Shoe and the deligtful view from Point McCoy, which, while not so majestic and awe-inspiring as some parts of the West, has about it far more elements of real beauty.

—Dr. Geissinger, 1st Lieutenant of Co. B, with perhaps one other member of the same company, will depart for Creedmore to-day to engage with other members of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, in a marksmanship contest. The Pennsylvanians will shoot on Saturday and a team will be selected from those making the best records to shoot with other teams from other states. The ultimate object is to make up the very best team from the National Guard of the United States to shoot in an international contest. We have no doubt the Doctor will distinguith himself.

—We are informed that some places where the Veteran Club have their picnic, the members are entertained with a sumptuous dinner. We believe Bellefonte should do likewise, and not be one whit less hospitable than any town in the county. It is an honor to entertain these veterans. Besides, no public festivity has occurred in Bellefonte this year, and consequently the people have not been called upon for previous donations. Let's entertain them royally.

—Miss Clara Strickland, one of the very best of all the many efficient lady instructors in the public schools, came home Friday from a visit prolonged through all her school vacation. She was at Chautauqua and also visited friends in various parts of this State.

—Mr. John H. Horlacher, of Valentines Store Co., Lim., was married Tuesday at 1 o'clock to Miss Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hopp, of Mooresburg. Mr. and Mrs. Horlacher are expected to arrive in Bellefonte on Saturday.

A Few Paragraphs About the Council.

Mr. L. T. Munson was again chosen President pro tem of council Monday night.

An agent for the Crown National Water Meter, who hails from New York, exhibited a water meter to council on Monday evening, and read figures from a number of comparative tables, showing the difference in the use of water in towns where the meter is in use and where it is not, and also a large increase in receipts in towns where the meter is used.

The Water committee reported that pipe for Logan street has been ordered and bids invited for laying the pipe. Also reported the number of gallons of water pumped during August, showing that 442,000 gallons were used daily. The cost of fuel for operating steam pump was $78.45, an average of 28½ cents per hour.

The Market committee is particularly proud of the fact that $16 was received from the market since last report.

To William Dawson was awarded the contract for digging trenches for Water street pipe and Jno. Barnes was given the contract for laying the pipe.

Proposals are to be invited for the digging of sewers on Perry alley and Bishop street as the condition of Perry alley is such as to invite an epidemic of disease.

—A tennis tournament took place on the common opposite Judge Orvis' residence on Monday afternoon. Ten young men participated in this tournament and the contest was witnessed by quite a number of ladies and gentlemen. The players were Scott Harris, Will Furst, Harry Keller, Joe Rhoads, Jas. Hughes, Chas. Pierce, George Bush, George Jackson, Chas, Rhone and Thomas Orbison. After a very clever and interesting contest, Scott Harris secured the first prize and Will Furst the second. Scott's prize was a mustache cup, which he probably will not have occasion to use for several years yet, but which will doubtless increase his ambition to cultivate an ornament for his upper lip. Will Furst's prize consisted of a glass pepper and salt stand. He will see to it that his food is well seasoned after this.

—The borough police, as far as we are aware, do their entire duty, and we had no intention of intimating otherwise when, a few days ago, we remarked that they seem to have an easy time of it. That they do not have occasion to make arrests is rather to their credit than otherwise, as it shows that would-be lawbreakers are afraid of them and conduct themselves properly. We are informed that they are on duty from early until quite late and have to keep sharp vigilance over the tramps who are quite numerous and sometimes disposed to be troublesome.

—The Hebrew New Year was begun Wednesday evening, Sept. 9, at 6 o'clock, it being the year 5,646, according to their way of reckoning. It will continue 24 hours, until Thursday, the 10th, at 6 o'clock. The stores controlled by Hebrews in this place will be closed during that time and persons who trade with them should notice the fact. On Friday, Sept. 18, at 6 o'clock p. m., the Day of Atonement will be ushered in, continuing until Saturday evening, Sept. 19, at 6 p. m. The stores will also be closed during the latter holy-day.

—Are you going to the supper in the Presbyterian chapel this (Thursday) evening. If the evening is mild and pleasant, perhaps some of the refreshments will be served on the lawn and patrons may go inside or remain on the lawn, as suits their feelings and tastes. What the ladies who are members of the Mite Society do not know about preparing tempting refreshments is not worth knowing, and everybody who visits the supper may be sure that all the refreshments will be superior in quality and served in generous quantity.

—The W. C. T. U. of Eagleville held a successful entertainment in Quigley's Hall on Saturday evening. Limited space and time will not permit us to go into details in regard to the entertainment, but all will be sure that it was very excellent when informed that the committee of arrangements were Misses Carrie Quigley, Maud Snyder, Annie Clark, Maggie Shearer, Mary Clark and Miss Coster. The committee thank the citizens of Eagleville for their patronage.

—Cards of invitation are out for the wedding of Miss Ella Gerberich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gerberich, to Mr. C. U. Hoffer in St. John's Reformed church, Thursday, September 17, at 6 o'clock p. m. The reception will last from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. Both the wedding and reception promise to be very elegant affairs.

—Beezer's slaughter house was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning at about 2 o'clock.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. F. W. Crider is in Philadelphia.

Mr. Wilbur Malin and daughters spent Monday in Williamsport.

Rev. Prof. D. M. Wolf, superintendent of the county schools, was in Bellefonte on Saturday examining teachers for the schools in Spring township.

Mr. A. O. Deininger, an ex-editor and prominent business man of Millheim, was in Bellefonte last Thrsday. He came to town on Wednesday over the new railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Harris have gone to Clintondale to remain a few weeks, Mr. Harris being in delicate health, which we hope will be benefited by the change.

Mr. H. D. Lee, a resident of Fillmore, visited Bellefonte to-day. He don't often get to town, which we regret as he is such a pleasant gentleman that we would like to see him frequently.

Mr. B. Frank Keller, of Washington, D. C., brother of D. S. Keller and Henry Keller, is at present in Bellefonte. Frank was always a fine-looking young gentleman and has not lost any of his good looks while away from home.

Mr. E. M. Speer discovered that he must leave for the West much sooner than he originally intended and accordingly went on the 5:20 p. m. train Thursday. He will stop for a few days in Council Bluffs, Iowa, before proceeding further.

Mr. H. Byxbe, of Youngstown, Ohio, arrived in Bellefonte from Lock Haven last Thursday. He and his wife have been visiting relatives in the latter city during the past week. Mr. Byxbe was at one time foreman of the REPUBLICAN office and is a printer of skill as well as a pleasant gentleman.

Mr. George Washington Pooler, who for some time has so efficiently dealt out the "stuff" in Green's drug store, departed from Bellefonte on Monday, Sept. the 7th, for Greensburg, where he will assume entire control of a drug store. Mr. Pooler while here, has made many warm friends, who much regret his departure. We bespeak for him a cordial welcome, and wish him success in his new situation.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell, of Oak Hall, were in Bellefonte Wednesday.

Mrs. R. A. Beck is visiting friends in Huntingdon, and Mr. B. is experiencing the loneliness of bachelor life.

Mr. Thomas Newell, formerly of this place, expects to locate in Lewistown soon, where he has secured a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Einstein, of Philadelphia who have been guests at Mr. Simon Loeb's residence, departed this morning.

Mr. Rathmell, a very successful insurance man from Williamsport, was transacting business in Bellefonte yesterday.

Mrs. Jenkins, of Linn St., departed on Tuesday to visit friends at Beech Creek, expecting to be absent until next week.

Mr. Isaac Smith, of Ridgway, who was the groom's best man in the Bible--Bradley wedding, departed Monday morning for his home.

Mr. John Anderson is in Clearfield to-day, where he went to meet the members of the Grand Army who are holding an encampment there.

Judge Jno. H. Orvis has been quite ill this week at his residence on Linn St., but pas feeling better Tuesday. We hope his illness will be but temporary.

Mr. G. W. Page, a young gentleman who is engaged in the milling business at Jacksonville, spent a few minutes in Bellefonte Wednesday morning.

Mr. S. A. Stover, the proprietor of Bellefonte's marble yard, has been very ill for four or five weeks past, but we are glad to hear that he is better.

Mrs. Beach, wife of Rev. Mr. Beach, of Baltimore, after several weeks visit at the home of her mother in Bellefonte, returned to Baltimore Tuesday morning.

Mr. C. W. Scott, of Williamsport, is making a tour of Centre county this week in the interest of the work on physiology and hygiene which he represents.

Miss Mary Tompkinson, who has been spending the summer at Mr. F. C. Richard's residence on Lamb St., returned to her home in Philadelphia this morning.

Mrs. Hassall and her daughter, Miss Jennie Hassall, of Philadelphia, who have been guests at Mr. Frank Montgomery's residence, departed Tuesday morning for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Bible were heard from on Monday in the city of Buffalo, N. Y. Now that they are away on that honeymoon journey there is no telling when they will get home again.

Mr. William Sage and wife and two children of Ithica, N. Y., are guests at the residence of ex-Gov. A. G. Curtin. Mrs. Sage is a daughter of the Governor and is a very accomplished and agreeable lady.

Mr. Chas. Nolan, a Bellefonte printer who travels the wide world over in the pursuit of his profession, is tarrying in town for a short time. He says he is not yet ready to settle down and make Bellefonte his home.

Miss Maggie Rodgers, who has been visiting her cousins here, the Misses Sperring, has left for her home in Bellefonte. While here Miss Rodgers made many friends by her lady-like and interesting manners.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Miss Lala Klinger, daughter of Mr. Jesse Klinger, who has been in delicate health for a long time, has been very low during the past ten days. She is a most excellent young lady and was for several years a compositor in the printing offices of the town.

Mr. Branson Gilbart, of the Singer sewing machine agency, is off on a visit to Philadelphia. Mr. Gilbart is a very sensible, attractive young gentleman and we hope he wont allow any of those Quaker City girls to capture his affections unless she is the very best the city contains.

R. M. Magee, Esq., is at home, and yesterday morning we found him occupying a seat in his office. This is noticeable from the fact that he is not very often in Bellefonte for any length of time, but spends a large portion of his time traveling through the State in the interest of his insurance business.

Mrs. Sarah Corman, mother of Mrs. David Sparr, of Boalsburg, was in Bellefonte Tuesday. This item becomes somewhat remarkable when we know that Mrs. Corman is in her 94th year and is still able to make the journey. She is cheerful and active and one would scarcely believe that she is past 70 years. Perhaps few sections can boast of a similar instance of youthful old age.

MARRIED.

KELLER—ZEIGLER.—Aug. 16, 1885, by Rev. Z. A. Yearick, at Aaronsburg, Mr. Harvey N. Keller, of Madisonburg, and Miss Sadie E. Zeigler, of Penn Hall.

REAM—WEAVER.—Aug. 27, 1885, by Rev. Z. A. Yearick, Mr. Noah W. Ream, of Farmer's Mills, and Miss Maggie S. Weaver, of Penn Hall.
